ALL GEORGIA IS READY FOR THE PRIMARY

Clans Are Gathered for the Battle Royal of Ballots Tomorrow.

GREAT CONFIDENCE IS EVERYWHERE DISPLAYED

Betting in Atlanta Favors Terrell for Governor — Friends of State House Officials Who Have Opposition Say They Don't Fear Result.

Tomorrow democrats all over the state will name their choice for the next governor of Georgia.

Preparations have been made in every one of the 137 counties in Georgia for the state primary at which will be nominated candidates for governor and state house offices for the ensuing two years, these to be formally elected in October.

All sorts of predictions are being made with reference to the outcome of tomorrow's battle of ballots. There is an amazing confidence in the result shown by each of the three candidates for governor and their friends, or else there is some extraordinary dissembling in certain quarters. According to the claims of the various candidates for governor, there would seem to be some 267 counties in Georgia, with a possibility of several others. Mr. Terrell's friends claim he will carry 120 counties, Mr. Guerry's supporters say they are certain of 79 and Colonel Estill's campaign management counts on 68. The indications are that somebody will be disappointed tomorrow night.

Many Bets Are Made.

The betting in Atlanta all favors Terrell. Several small bets have been made, though nothing of any magnitude has been recorded, and in every known instance odds have been given to the man taking the other side of the bet. One drummer on a train coming into Atlanta bet a Guerry supporter $25 to $5 that Terrell would be nominated on the first ballot. One small bet of 10 to 1 in favor of Terrell was recorded in the Kimball house lobby yesterday. So far as is known, no Estill bets have been made in Atlanta, but he has a large number of friends both in south Georgia and in the northern and northeastern parts of the state.

Do Not Seem Anxious.

Friends of the three state house officers who have opposition do not appear anxious as to the outcome of the primary. State School Commissioner G. R. Glenn's friends claim that he will have 240 votes in the convention, while the supporters of both Merritt and Johnston declare they have him beaten, and say the primary will demonstrate the truth of their predictions.

Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens and his friends say he has his race well won. Like Mr. Terrell's friends, they are claiming 120 counties and more. Colonel R. T. Nesbitt has made a personal canvass of the state, and he and his friends say the claim of Colonel Stevens is without the slightest foundation. They declare the people are displeased with the present administration of the department, and will make a change tomorrow.

One of the most interesting races will be that for prison commissioner, between Hon. Thomas Eason, the incumbent, and Captain Wiley Williams, of Columbus. Each has friends all over the state who are carefully looking out for his interests, and these are exhibiting the same degree of confidence in the result as is shown by the three candidates for governor.

None of the other capitol officials are opposed. Secretary of state, treasurer, comptroller general and justices of the supreme court will all go in without a fight, and Judge John C. Hart will go in as attorney general without the sign of a contest.

Interest in the election will be enlivened in many counties by local contests. Congressmen, judges and solicitors general are to be nominated in the various districts and circuits.

JEWELL DEFIES MONT PELEE.

He Will Be Sent as Consul to Martinique.

Washington, June 3.—President Roosevelt has found a competent man willing to undergo the dangers of another eruption of Mont Pelee in the island of Martinique. He is John F. Jewell, of Galena, Ills., whose nomination will be sent to the senate tomorrow.

GEN. MILES IS ACCUSED OF BEING OUTRAGE MILL

LIEUTENANT GENERAL MILES,
In Full Dress Uniform on His Favorite Horse.

Intimated by Senator Beveridge That Soldier Has Been Furnishing Democrats Stories of Cruelty in the Philippines.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington June 3.—(Special.)—General Miles' name was dragged into the Philippines debate in the senate today in a rather sensational way. The republican leaders are bitter toward General Miles because of the part he is believed to have played in unearthing some of the facts about outrages committed by officers and men in the army. They have never forgiven him for his letter which brought out the Gardner report and they have tried to fasten upon him some of the other discoveries on the same line. While they are protesting that they do not seek to cover up the facts, that they are not engaged in suppression, the fact is that it has been with greatest difficulty that the minority members of the senate committee on Philippines have been able to get at facts because of systematic suppressions. The bitterness of the republican leaders toward Miles for the part they alleged he has taken is acknowledgement that they seek to punish every official who assists in unearthing any of these disclosures.

During the discussion today Senator Culberson created a sensation by having read from the desk the copy of charges filed in the war department by Private Andrew J. Weir against Lieutenant Arnold and Sergeant Edwards, which the senator had been vainly trying to officially secure from the war department.

The charges recited inhuman treatment of Filipino prisoners and suggested the killing of aged and defenseless men.

Accompanying the paper was the report of Captain West, of the Fifth cavalry, at Calaca, P. I.

Mr. Lodge, Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Allison vainly endeavored to elicit from Mr. Culberson where the copies of the charges were secured.

Mr. Beveridge even went so far as to declare that he would insist upon an answer as to whether or not they came from the war department.

Mr. Culberson, of Texas, intimated that the war department was endeavoring to suppress information concerning matters in the Philippines.

Mr. Beveridge inquired if the information had come from any officer of the war department, saying that it was desirable to learn whether the charges had been in possession of the department.

After fencing the question for a time, Mr. Culberson, being pressed, said:

"The question of the senator might properly be characterized as impertinent.

Finally Mr. Culberson declined to yield further to Mr. Beveridge.

After some further reports had been read Mr. Beveridge again inquired whether the matters presented had come from an officer of the war department.

"I have already indicated to the senator, with sufficient emphasis, that I am not to be inquired of further," responded Mr. Culberson.

"I asked the senator," Mr. Beveridge persisted, "whether or not, directly or indirectly the paperss were received by him from General Miles?"

To this inquiry Mr. Culberson made no reply.

Mr. Beveridge sententiously remarked, "That is all."

Mr. Culbersoh later referred to the colloquy between himself and Mr. Beveridge. Not wishing that he should be misunderstood by not answering the question at the time, he desired to say that the papers were received from a party disconnected with the army and neither directly nor indirectly from General Miles.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF REPORTS PASSED UP BY COMMITTEE

Board government is declared to be wise and the city is divided into five board districts, to be defined by certain limits as a central, northwestern, northeastern, southwestern and southeastern district.

There are to be eight boards—water, police, fire, health, electrical control, sinking fund commission, Grady hospital, commission, school and parks and cemetery.

Each board shall be composed of the mayor, ex-officio, chairman of council committee, ex-officio, and five commissioners to be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by council, one from each district. No person shall be eligible for appointment on any board while a councilman or alderman, or within a year after the expiration of his term of office.

No person shall hold salaried office or employment under any board who is related by blood or affinity to any board member.

Upon the adoption of the charter the membership of each board shall be vacated and the mayor shall appoint five members, one for one year, one for two years, one for three years, one for four years and one for five years, and thereafter the mayor shall make appointments for five years as terms expire.

The present laws and rules governing the boards, not altered by the committee, shall remain in force.

The recorder is given power to sentence offenders to confinement or to labor on the public works for six months.

The mayor, council and board members, and officers and secretaries of all departments are forbidden to receive money, property, or anything of any value from any candidate, applicant for office, contractor, or public utility corporation whether by way of gift, loan, or with obligation to pay back, the penalty for violation to be removal from office.

The report of the subcommittee on city officers and city election centers contains the following new and interesting features:

Aldermen and councilmen shall be eligible for reelection at the end of their respective terms. All city primaries shall be held on the first Wednesday in October and primaries held on other dates shall be illegal.

If no candidate announces in opposition to those nominated at the primary up to within five days of the election the mayor shall issue a proclamation declaring such unopposed candidates duly elected.

The term of ministerial officers shall be four years.

FOUR MEN DIE BY GARROTE.

Two Men Aided Executioner To Adjust the Instrument.

Ponce, Porto Rico, June 3.—Bernabe Acevedo, Jose Torres, Ramon Troche Cadeno and Juan Torres, the four men found guilty of murder, robbery and outrage, committed in October, 1898, at Guayo, a suburb of Adjuntas, were garroted here today. All the condemned men confessed their crimes as they walked to the scaffold.

Two of them aided the executioner to adjust the garrote and forgave him for putting them to death. One of the prisoners resisted the adjustment of the cloth over his face. He said he wanted to die with his face uncovered. Finally, after fifteen minutes' struggle, he was subdued. There were only thirty witnesses of the execution.

BILL TO PROTECT PRESIDENT.

Its Consideration Is Entered Upon by the House.

Washington, June 3.—The house today entered upon the consideration of the bill to protect the president of the United States and for other purposes, known as the anti-anarchy bill. The house committee reported a substitute for the senate measure.

Mr. Ray, of New York, chairman of the judiciary committee, who was in charge of the bill, argued that the senate bill was unconstitutional. Mr. Lanham, of Texas, supported the feature of the bill to exclude anarchists, but opposed that making it a particular offense to kill the president or any one in the line of the presidential succession. He argued that every man was equal before the law and that existing laws were ample to punish the killing or attempted killing of the president.

CITY CHARTER TO CALL FOR BOARD CONTROL

Charter Revision Commitee Considers Such Control To Be Indispensable.

SEVEN ALDERMEN FOR THE CITY AT LARGE

Report Recommends That Aldermen and Councilmen Be Eligible for Reelection and That Ministerial Officers Be Elected for Four Years.

The charter revision committee held an important meeting yesterday afternoon, adopted the report of the subcommittee on board government and listened to the outlined report of the subcommittee on mayor and general council.

Both of these reports have virtually been completed and after being perfected by the committee on harmony will be finally adopted as a part of the charter. Both reports make very material changes in the organic law of the city and every change is regarded as a great improvement.

A brief summary of the report of the committee on board management will show the following changes:

The committee first declares that it considers the city boards good institutions and states that they are indispensable. The city is divided into five board districts which is an entirely new feature. The boards are classified into nine different boards, that of parks and cemeteries being a new board, in that it is a combination of two old boards. A new feature also enters into the report in the eligibility of those who shall serve. No alderman or councilman shall serve on a board while in office or within one year after his term of office has expired. This is considered an important feature and will prevent councilmen from arranging to be elected to boards while they hold office in the council.

Section four as printed in the report caused quite a debate and was not adopted yesterday as was the rest of the report. The section provides that no person related by blood or affinity to any board member shall hold salaried office under said board. The committee re-referred this section to the subcommittee. Section 9 of the report, which provides for the manner of appointing the members of boards, is also something new for Atlanta. nder the head of "clauses" the committee has made several very important changes in the laws of the city. The first clause enlarges very materially the powers of the recorder. Instead of being able to only sentence lawbreakers for thirty days he is given the power to send them to the public works for six months.

Report of Committee.

Following is the report of the committee published in full and as it was adopted by the general committee with the exception of the section above stated:

The subcommittee on board government, its necessity and management, report as follows:

It would, in the opinion of your subcommittee, be practically impossible for the city council and its committees to administer the affairs of the city unaided by some appropriate collateral agencies. If there were no bodies to govern and administer the city departments, it would take so much of the time of the city council and its members, to discharge the necessary duties, and matters of almost infinite detail, as to deter good citizens from becoming members of that body.

It is a fundamental proposition, recognized by the wisest men in all parts of our common country, that as far as may be the functions of legislation should be kept separate from those of administration. The city council should be, as far as possible, a purely legislative body; whilst the powers and duties of administration under the laws of the state and the laws and ordinances enacted by the city council should be administered by another and separate authority.

Your subcommittee, therefore, report that board government is not only wise, but necessary, and they accordingly recommend that a chapter be inserted in the new charter as follows, to-wit:

Boards and Their Government.

Section 1. The territory of the city shall be divided into five board districts as nearly equal as may be in population and taxable property. (The territory of the board districts is defined by certain lines into central, northern, northeastern, southwestern and southeastern districts.)

There shall be eight boards, with their respective appropriate functions as follows, to-wit: A board of water commissioners, a board of police commissioners, a board of fire commissioners, a board of health, a board of electrical control, a board of sinking fund commissioners, a board of Grady hospital commissioners, a school board and a board of parks and cemetery.

Sec. 2. Each of the said boards shall be composed of the mayor, ex-officio; the chairman of council committee on each respective department ex-officio, and five commissioners, to be appointed by the mayor and conurmed by a majority of the general council, one of the said commissioners to be appointed from each of the said board districts and no two of them to be resident in the same ward or board district of the city.

Sec. 3. No person shall be eligible to appointment as commissioner on any of the above mentioned boards while an alderman or councilman, or within one year after the expiration of the term for which he may have been elected an alderman or councilman. No one shall be a commissioner on any of the named boards while serving as a commissioner on any other executive board; and to be eligible for appointment on any of said boards the appointee must be at least 25 years old, must have resided in the city not less than five years and must be one of the most experienced, upright and intelligent citizens. And it shall in each instance be the duty of the mayor to select and appoint the person best fitted for the place, whether he be an applicant for the same or not.

Sec. 4. No person shall be appointed to

NICARAGUAN CANAL BILL IS UP FOR FINAL ACTION

SENATOR MORGAN, OF ALABAMA.
After Fighting for an Isthmian Canal for Years, He Seems on Eve of Success.

Taken Up by Senate Immediately After Vote on the Philippine Bill.

CANAL IS A CERTAINTY, AS SOME BILL WILL PASS

Morgan Counts Fifty-Five Votes for Nicaragua Route, but a Strong Effort Will Be Made To Pass the Spooner Substitute.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, June 3.—(Special.)—Isthmian canal legislation is now at a more advanced stage than it has ever been since the agitation for the great waterway first began.

At the conclusion of the vote on the Philippines bill this afternoon, Senator Morgan was recognized for a formal motion to take up the canal bill as the unfinished business of the senate, and his motion was adopted without dissent. At no previous time has legislation on this line reached the point of having passed one house of congress and being formally before the other house.

While the Nicaragua bill is the one immediately under consideration a strong effort will be made to secure the passage of the Spooner substitute which has the indorsement of the minority of the canal committee of which Senator Morgan is chairman. Senator Hanna is the leading sponsor for this substitute, and it has some very strong and ardent advocates, but it is too early to predict what the vote will be.

Apparently, a number of senators care very little as between the two routes, and the debate which is to follow will determine their final action. Senator Cullom, for instance, said today he had been inclined to vote for the Nicaragua route, but the possibilities of volcanic disturbances in that region made him dubious. And there are others who take the same position. Senator Morgan counts on fifty-five votes for the Nicaragua route, but it is apparent from the talk of some of the men he counts upon that he has over estimated his strength. The Spooner proposition proposes to authorize the president to purchase the property of the Panama company if a good title can be obtained and if there are no diplomatic difficulties; if there are such obstacles the secretary of war to begin construction by the Nicaragua route after all necessary preliminaries have been arranged. The president, it is understood, inclines to the Panama route, but would prefer congress to decide the question of route rather than place the responsibility upon his shoulders.

In any event, the canal is assured, for some bill will pass.

Drummers Are in Convention.

Portland, Ore. June 3.—The national session of the Travelers' Protective Association met here today in annual session. Samuel P. Jones, of Louisville, Ky., the national president, was presented by the Oregon and Washington division with a handsome visier-mounted gavel made of wood brought from the Philippines. No business of importance was transacted today.

ASKED TO TOE BRYAN'S MARK

Nebraskan Seems To Be Something of an Issue With Indiana Democrats.

FIGHT MADE ON BARRETT FOR OPPOSING NEBRASKAN

But, Despite Fight, He Was Named for Committee on Resolutions. Convention Will Be Harmonious in Regard to Resolutions.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 3.—The democratic state convention which will be called to order here tomorrow will, from present indications, make most of the nominations by acclamation.

The only fight for an office that is promised on the floor of the convention is for the position of secretary of state.

W. H. O'Brien, chairman of the state central committee, will be temporary chairman of the convention, and John W. Kern, of Indianapolis, permanent chairman.

In the twelfth district caucus the nomination of J. M. Barrett, of Fort Wayne, as member of the committee on resolutions was warmly contested. Henry Colerick, of Fort Wayne, demanded to know how Barrett stood on the question of mentioning Bryan and indorsing the Kansas City platform in the state platform. Barrett did not commit himself on the platform. Colerick then asked Barrett if he had not voted in a conference held in the afternoon to omit the name of Bryan from the platform. Barrett replied that he had voted as he thought right, and that if he received the nomination he would faithfully represent the democrats of the district. Barrett was nominated.

Tomorrow's convention will nominate candidates for minor state officers and judgeships.

The platform probably will include among other provisions a plank condemning the policy of the republican administration in the Philippines and another, denouncing asset banking. The election of senators by the direct vote of the people was favored and the ship subsidy bill will also be declared as opposed to the best interests of the people.

No action regarding the financial question had been taken at midnight and there was a strong disposition on the part of several members of the committee to ignore free silver. Others were in favor of a re-affirmation of the platform adopted at Kansas City.

There Have Been Aspirants in the Past, but It Was Left for Mrs. Bailey To Take the Honor. Sister of the Late Consul Mosely.

Washington, June 3.—(Special.)—A Georgia woman, Mrs. Emma Reba Bailey, formerly of Rome, graduated from the school of jurisprudence of Columbian university today with the degree of master of laws. Mrs. Bailey has the distinction of being the first woman to take this degree from Columbian. There have been aspirants in the past, but it was left for her to acquire this honor.

Last May she received the degree of LL.M. from the Washington School of Law and was admitted to practice in the District of Columbia, but she preferred to pursue her studies at Columbian university with a view to paving the way for other women to aspire to degrees in the department of jurisprudence there. It is understood that she will study at the university for the degree of doctor of civil laws, which is possessed by few women in the United States.

Mrs. Bailey is the widow of the late Edward Bailey and a sister of the late Consul General Moseley.

PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT BILL PASSES SENATE BY PARTY VOTE

Forty-Eight Votes Were Cast for the Measure and Thirty Against.

M'LAURIN OF CAROLINA WITH THE REPUBLICANS

Hoar, Wellington and Mason Voted with the Democrats Against the Measure—Sharp Exchange Between Dietrich and Patterson.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, June 3.—(Special.)—The long drawn out fight over the Philippines government bill in the senate was brought to an end late this afternoon when the republican bill was passed by practically a party vote.

On the final passage McLaurin, of South Carolina, voted, of course, with the republicans, while Hoar, Wellington and Mason voted with the democrats against the bill. On the test vote upon the adoption of the minority substitute, which provided for a period of qualified independence with a large amount of self-government at the end of this period, the recognition of the absolute independence of the islands, the lines were drawn about as above with the exception that Senator Morgan voted against the minority bill.

The house will pass the bill prepared by the republicans of the insular affairs committee, which differs in some particulars from that which the senate has passed, and then the differences will be settled in conference between the two houses. It is said that the senate bill will stand in all its essentials.

The Detailed Vote.

It was shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon when the bill was passed by a vote of 48 to 30.

The detailed vote on the bill follows:

Yeas—Allison, Bard, Beveridge, Burnham, Burrows, Burton, Clapp, Clark of Wyoming, Cullom, Deboe, Dietrich, Dillingham, Dolliver, Elkins, Fairbanks, Foraker, Foster of Washington, Frye, Gallinger, Gamble, Hanna, Hawley, Jones of Nevada, Kean, Kearns, Kittredge, Lodge, McComas, McCumber, McLaurin of South Carolina, McMillan, Millard, Mitchell, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt of Connecticut, Platt of New York, Pritchard, Proctor, Quarles, Quay, Scott, Simon, Spooner, Stewart, Warren and Wetmore—48.

Nays—Bacon, Bailey, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Carmack, Clark of Montana, Clay, Cockrell, Culberson, Dubois, Foster of Louisiana, Gibson, Harris, Heitfeld, Hoar, McEnery, McLaurin of Mississippi, Mallory, Martin, Mason, Money, Morgan, Patterson, Simmons, Tallaferro, Teller, Tillman, Vest, Wellington—30.

The debate on the measure has been in progress for seven weeks and two days.

Just at the close of the discussion today a sharp exchange occurred between Mr. Dietrich, of Nebraska, and Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, in the course of which the former reflected caustically upon the Colorado senator. He was called to order, his remarks were read and he was declared to have been out of order in uttering them. He withdrew his statement, thus ending the controversy.

During much of the time today the senate was in recess, no senator caring to discuss the measure.

Canal Bill Is Up.

After the passage of the Philippine bill the Nicaragua canal bill was made the unfinished business, and its consideration will begin tomorrow.

During the consideration of the bill Mr. McLaurin, of Mississippi, denied that the democrats had attacked the army and placed the responsibility for the outrages committed in the Philippines upon the policy advanced by the republicans.

Mr. Beveridge, of Indiana, said the next world's drama would be enacted on the Pacific and it was essential that the mastery of that great ocean should be ours, and it would be ours.

Mr. Berry, of Arkansas, deplored the fact that the president, on Memorial day, had seen proper to make "a bitter partisan speech." The president, he said, had gone back for eight years to rekindle the fires of sectionalism and had referred to the acts of an infuriated mob to justify, he supposed, the awful order of General Smith in the Philippines.

Among the amendments rejected was one by Mr. Quay, of Pennsylvania, providing that the duty on imports to the United States from the Philippines, products of the islands, shall be 50 per cent of the rate of duty charged on similar imports from other countries. The amendment was rejected 19 to 56.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE AS PASSED BY THE SENATE

Washington, June 3.—The Philippine government bill as passed by the senate today approves the action of the president in creating the Philippine commission and the offices of civil governor and vice governor of the islands, and authorizes the governor and vice governor to exercise the powers of government as directed by executive order. A mint is to be established in Manila and coins authorized may be coined at the mint, the coinage laws of the United States being extended to the islands. The Philippine government is authorized to coin a silver dollar, containing 416 grains of standard silver, to be a coin of the Philippine islands, the denomination of the coin to be expressed in English, Filipino and Chinese characters The dollar shall be legal tender in the Philippines for public and private debts, except where otherwise stipulated.

FARMS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Interesting Figures Are Furnished by Census Bureau.

Washington, June 3.—The census report on agriculture in North Carolina shows that on June 1, 1900, the state had 224,637 farms, valued at $194,655,920. Of the valuation 27 per cent was in buildings and the remainder in land and other improvements than buildings. The value of farm implements and machinery was $9,072,609 and live stock $30,106,173, making the total value of farm property $233,834,693. The total value of farm products for 1899 was $89,309,638, of which 23 per cent was in animal products and the remainder in crops, including forest products cut or produced on farms. The total value of farm products for 1899 exceeded those of 1889 by 78 per cent. The gross farm income of North Carolina for 1899 was $79,200,748. The gross income upon investment was 34 per cent.

ATLANTA MAN IS INVENTOR.

Dr. William Crenshaw Receives Patent on Improved Dental Matrix.

An Atlanta dentist, Dr. William Crenshaw, has invented an improved dental matrix which is pronounced by leading dentists as a great advance in the methods of preserving the teeth.

The device allows the permanent filling with gold or other material many teeth which have hitherto been crowned and also allows the filling of teeth in positions which have hitherto been impossible, as well as making it possible to fill cavities which have in the past been considered too large for filling.

Letters patent were issued to Dr. Crenshaw by the United States patent office yesterday. The device has been commended by a number of dental associations before which its advantages have been demonstrated.

TO SAVE SCALPS MEXICANS FLEE

General Uprising of the Yaqui Indians Is Said To Be Imminent.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEEING TO THE CITIES

Mexican Soldiers Are Being Hurried to the Front—In the Battle Last Saturday the Yaquis Lost Very Heavily.

El Paso, Tex., June 3.—A private letter received here from a reliable source at Hermosillo, Mexico states that a general uprising of the Yaqui Indians in the central and southern portions of that state has taken place and a reign of terror exists, even at the capital, for it is feared that the Indians will attack the town. Refugees from the ranches, with their wives and children, are pouring into Hermosillo seeking protection. A conscript law has recently been passed and as fast as able-bodied men arrive at the capital they are conscripted to serve in the army. Indians are rising in large numbers and concentrating among the hills. Many murders have been reported.

The recent reconcentration order had a bad effect upon the Indians. They regard the system as virtual slavery. The Indians are bolder than they have been since the outbreak three years ago and seem to be operating in greater numbers. Armed bands are scouring the country, but the principal stronghold is the almost inaccessible hills. Re-enforcements of regulars are being hurried to the front.

The Fighting Saturday.

Bucson, Ariz., June 3.—Advices from Torres state that in the fighting Saturday between the Mexican soldiers under Governor Isabel and the Yaquis on the Sonora river, eighteen Yaquis and three Mexicans were killed. There were 400 Indians. General Torres has taken the field with the Twentieth regiment and a detachment of cavalry. Colonel Kasterhitze is marching from Magdelena with his forces down the San Miguel river to the Sonora, where he will form a junction with Governor Isabel. Another strong force of men have moved to the Bacatele mountains, a former stronghold of the Yarquis, to head them off in that direction. The government confidently expects that between these forces the Yaqui forces will be captured or destroyed.

COMPROMISE BILL ON CUBA

Introduced by Dietrich, Who Stands with Beet Sugar Men.

Washington, June 3.—Senator Dietrich, of Nebraska, who stands with the beet sugar interests in opposition to the reduction of duty on Cuban sugars as proposed by the republican members of the senate committee on Cuban relations, today introduced a bill on the subject, which he thinks will be accepted as a compromise measure. It provides that the differential on refined sugar shall be abolished, but that an equal amount shall be added to the duty on raw sugars, and then it gives Cuba a 25 per cent reduction from this increased duty.

Senator Dietrich says that he has consulted the president with reference to the terms of the bill and that it is acceptable to him. He also has assured himself that it will be satisfactory to the senatorial friends of beet sugar.

The committee of senators opposed to the general Cuban reciprocity plan, consisting of Senators Elkins Burrows and Jones of Nevada, appointed at the Elkins conference yesterday, will meet Senators Platt, of Connecticut; Spooner and perhaps other senators of the Cuban committee tomorow and discuss the situation. Thus far there has been very good feeling manifested between the factions, but the intense activity displayed on both sides has begun to injure some feeling.

FLASHES FROM THE CABLE.

The chancellor of the British exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, has announced that it was not proposed to remove the tax on grain from the budget.

The emperor of Japan and the foreign minister, J. Kohmonra, have telegraphed their congratulations to King Edward and the British government respectively on the signing of the South African peace agreement.

The resolution which the directors of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company will submit to a general meeting of the shareholders June 23, declares the convention is based purely on mutual interests of the German lines and American syndicates.

The sugar committee of the reichstag by a vote of 12 to 10, fixed the duty on sugar sold for consumption at 12 marks per double hundred weight, from September, 1903, and at 10 marks from September, 1905. By a vote of 18 to 8 the same committee fixed a sugar tax of 4 marks 80 pfennigs on refined sugar and 4 marks 40 pfennigs on other sugars.

The report of the directors of the Suez Canal Company for 1901 shows that the receipts from transit dues have exceeded 100,000,000 francs. A dividend of 133 francs was declared. Shipping aggregating 10,823,880 tons traversed the canal in 1901. The cargoes shipped beyond Suez consisted largely of petroleum and railroad material.

BROKEN HEADS VERY NUMEROUS

Striking Teamsters Are Causing Chicago Police to Lead Strenuous Life.

WAGONS BEARING MEAT ARE CHARGED BY STRIKERS

Policemen Use Their Clubs, Wounding Many Members of the Mob. Drivers Employed by Department Stores Join the Strikers.

Chicago, June 3.—Chicago's police were given a strenuous life today by the striking packing house teamsters. From daylight this morning until long after dark tonight the blue-coats were kept busy dispersing trouble-makers, who congregated along the streets and in every conceivable manner placed obstacles in the way of the meat dealers, who endeavored to move their supply wagons with non-union drivers. In spite of the striking teamsters and their friends, thirty-three wagon loads of meat were delivered from the stock yards to down town stations. Before the task was accomplished, however, a score of policemen and rioters were injured and fully fifty persons had been placed under arrest. Several of the injured were in such a serious condition that they were taken to the hospitals. Two of the injured may die.

When the procession of wagons left the packing house district they were guarded by a heavy detail of police. As soon as the wagons emerged at the entrance of the yards fully 500 enraged strike sympathizers made a rush to overturn the conveyances. The policemen drew their clubs and after a hard struggle succeeded in scattering the mob. A fresh start was made, but before the wagons reached the down town district the mob, augmented by hundreds of sympathizers, made an attack.

Revolvers Drawn.

In the fight that followed revolvers were drawn. No person was shot, the police instead using their clubs indiscriminately, and a dozen or more people were injured before the march could be resumed. When the central portion of the city was reached clashes between the police and the crowd became numerous. Street car traffic was an impossibility and it was necessary for several squads of police to charge the crowds with batons before the wagons had reached the down town houses.

To add to the burdens of the police department 1,300 drivers and their helpers, employed by the State street general retail department merchandise stores, went on strike today. An attempt was made to deliver "department store" goods in the down town district this afternoon, with nonunion drivers under police protection, but so much disorder developed that the attempt proved futile. Before the project was abandoned several rioters were hurt and many arrests had been made.

An attempt by the Fair store management to deliver goods this afternoon after the drivers and teamsters had struck, resulted in a riot, several injured heads and bodies, a number of arrests and finally the failure of the project. Escorted by fifty policemen, two wagons were started from the store to deliver some parcels on the west side.

Police Charge Mob.

The procession had gone barely a block when trouble began. Crossing Clark street a heavy express wagon drove full tilt into the leading wagon of the Fair. The Fair wagon was badly damaged in the collision and the guard thrown into confusion. The police charged upon the gathering crowd with drawn clubs and struck freely at the people who were nearest them. After a short but fierce struggle, the crowd was pressed back and the procession resumed. Before another block had been traversed the crowd made another rush for the wagons and a sharp battle folowed. Bricks and stones were the weapons used and the missiles were thrown with such effect that after the fight was over dozens of big show windows in adjoining buildings were shattered. In the attack which the police made upon the crowd a dozen men were severely injured. Several of the strike partisans were arrested.

The fierceness of the fight discouraged further progress westward and the two wagons were headed back to the Fair. When the wagons reached the alley leading across the rear of the Fair the police with a desperate charge cleared the way through the crowd which had swelled to thousands.

An attack made tonight on William Kiser, a non-union teamster employed by Irwin Brothers, at Harrison street and Michigan avenue, resulted in a small riot in which several shots were fired and one man was severely wounded by a stray bullet. Kiser claims he fired the shots in self-defense. He was arrested.

GUARDS TO KEEP STRIKERS AT BAY

Coal and Iron Policemen Accompany Men at Work.

Strikers Call Those Who Have Not Quit Opprobious Names—President Mitchell Makes a Statement in Regard to the Strike.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 3.—There were no developments or incidents of special mention in the anthracite coal miners strike today. The mine workers tried har to bring out additional engineers, firemen and pump runners and the company was equally earnest in its efforts to hold the emyloyees that have been loyal to them. The union succeeded in getting out quite a 7number 7of 7men, and tonight the labor leaders assert that they are satisfied with the day's work. One or two collieries were compelled to shut down their pumps because of the lack of men, but in all other cases the operators were able to fill the vacancies by drawing on their reserve force of officers and other employees. The mine owners claim that thus far that they have employed a very few nounion men and have plenty of workers to draw on.

The entire coal belt remains comparatively quiet, but disturbances of a minor nature are becoming more frequent. These affairs are in the nature of demonstrations ranging in numbers from a dozen persons up to about one hundred. At Miners Mills this morning and this evening men and women gathered on the street corners and hooted the men that came from the mines to go to their homes.

At Plymouth also this evening there was a small disturbance cmfwyp shrieta was a small demonstration against those still working at the engines and pumps in the collieries there. About 100 men, women and children followed the workers to their homes, calling them opprobrious names all along the way.

GUARDED BY THE POLICE

Many of the workers who go to their homes are accompanied by coal and iron policemen. The latter have been cautioned not to notice the actions of the crowds unless they attempt to do the men bodily harm. In nearly every colliery temporary living quarters have been provided for those employees who do not care to leave the place. Colored cooks are being brought into the region to provide for these men.

President Mitchell tonight gave out the following statement:

"Detailed reports from all quarters of the anthracite field indicate that the number of engineers, firemen and pump men who ceased work yesterday was considerably increased today and the probabilities are that it will be further augmented tomorrow.

"There has been no violations of law on the part o fthe strikers, and our predictions made last week that the mine workers would be law abiding, have been more than verified by the events of yesterday and today.

"The coal strike is remarkable in many respects. Were it not for the fact that the coal companies have a veritable army of private guards and coal and iron police employed, there would be no exterior evidence that a great industrial contest was being waged.

"We are sure that the splendid conduct of the men and boys who are engaged in this great, silent and passive struggle for at least a small share of our country's prosperity must commend itself to all well disposed persons."

Dr. Dunbar Roy, of Atlanta, was yesterday elected vice president of the American Larynx Association at its annual meeting held in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Roy took a leading part in the proceedings of the association and read one of the principal papers of the meeting. Dr. Roy is one of the most prominent and popular of Atlanta specialists and the honor bestowed upon him is appreciated by his large number of friends in Atlanta.

The facts concerning the meeting are told in the following special to The Constitution from Washington:

"Washington, June 3.—(Special.)—At the annual meeting of the American Larynx Association Dr. Dunbar Roy, of Atlanta, was elected vice president. Dr. Roy read one of the principal papers at the convention. The gathering has been a most notable one, being attended by many of the leading throat specialists from all parts of this country and Canada. Dr. and Mrs. Roy will leave tomorrow for Richmond."

DR. GEORGE BROWN HONORED.

Prominent Atlanta Physician Is Elected Secretary of American Congress of Tuberculosis.

Dispatches received in Atlanta last night from New York announce the election of Dr. George Brown as secretary of the American Congress of Tuberculosis at a meeting held in the Hotel Majestic.

Dr. Brown's name was strongly urged for the presidency by delegates from all parts of the country, and it is believed that he would have been elected had he allowed his name to go before the congress in that connection. Dr. Brown declined to accept the presidency, owing to the prominent part he took in the formation of the congress.

It was largely through the efforts of Dr. Brown that the arrangements for the meeting of the world's congress of tuberculosis at St. Louis during the Louisiana Purchase exposition were completed. It is considered a foregone conclusion that he will be elected president of that congress.

IRISH COERCION IS UNDER FIRE

Stirring Protest Is Made by the Irish-Americans of Chicago.

BOURKE COCKRAN ASKS CIVILIZED WORLD TO ACT

Alien Ownership of Land and Alien Ownership of the Government, He Says, Are the Grievances of Ireland—Pleads for American Action.

Chicago, June 3.—The meeting of the Irish-Americans of Chicago at the auditorium tonight to protest against the coercion laws in force in nine counties in Ireland, was perhaps the largest demonstration of its kind ever held in this city.

Bourke Cockran was the principal speaker, and when he began his address about 8,000 persons joined in the applause that greeted him.

Crowds thronged the avenues outside, disappointed at being unable to gain admission.

Mr. Cockran said in part:

"The primary object of this meeting is to make it possible for you, fellow citizens, to look carefully into the facts and see to what extent injustice has been and is being done the Irish nation; to protest against English rule; to inquire what England further proposes regarding Ireland, and to say what we ask the civilized world to condemn.

"The Irish question is often said to be too difficult for the ordinary man to understand, but it is the simplest question conceivable. Ireland is the only country in which the people own neither the land upon which, nor control the government under which, they live. The Irish question arises from the demand of the Irish to control both their people and their land, while the English government denies the right and endeavors to stifle the demand. It is a dual question, alien ownership of the land and alien ownership of the government; these are the Irish grievances. In Ireland the owners of the soil never lived on it, never saw it, but obtain and retain ownership by a sort of confiscation.

"The prosperity of the Irish people has been stifled by the unreasonable demands of England, and this policy the English officials still are endeavoring to pursue by coercion.

"The Irish have shown their industrial capacity at home and in every country in which they have gone, and if this be the case under adverse conditions at home and in foreign lands, how much more then would it be shown in their own land, owned and governed by themselves? They certainly would be able to restore in Ireland the prosperity they have achieved in other countries.

"If the American people, in their might, shall rise up and say the Irish cause is just, Ireland will be restored. As Americans we cannot but believe that providence has intended that the American people shall be the instrument through which this justice shall be accomplished."

MEDICAL STATISTICS.

According to figures recently published, life has been lengthened by an average of 4.1 years in the last decade. In 1890 the average length of life in the United States was 31.3 years; in 1900 this mean average has risen to 35.2 years; chiefly by reason of the decrease in mortality among the very young.

This decrease is attributable in a great measure to the increase in consumption of malt beverages and will continue just as long as delicate and nursing mothers drink Astoria Beer. Its invigorating and strengthening properties are simply marvelous.

AMERICAN CITIZENS ARE THROWN INTO FILTHY JAILS OF ECUADOR

And Held in Defiance of Law Until They Become Physical Wrecks.

CLAIMS FOR HUGE SUMS FILED AT WASHINGTON

State of Affairs Revealed Which Will Result in Action by This Government—Shocking Stories of the Treatment of Americans.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, June 3.—(Special.)—Damages aggregating many thousands of dollars are to be claimed of the government of Ecuador for the illegal imprisonment and the ill treatment in many other respects of citizens of the United States.

Former United States Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, and former Congressman John S. Wise, of New York, represent several of the claimants, and the allegations upon which these claims are based reveal a state of affairs in the republic on the west coast of South America which may call for strenuous action by the United States government.

American citizens have, it is alleged, been thrown into the filthy jails of the republic on charges of the most trivial nature; have been held under the disgraceful peon law at the will of petty magistrates from whose action there is no appeal; have had their lives jeopardized and their health broken—the sole purpose, apparently, being to force from them the payment of blackmail.

One man has been under treatment at the Providence hospital, in this city, his constitution a wreck, his chances for life apparently small, because he was cast into one of the jails of Ecuador and was given no opportunity for a hearing on his case and no chance to communicate with the American authorities. Several other well-known Americans who have suffered at the hands of the Ecuadorian officials are now in this country and have placed their cases in the hands of the attorneys mentioned in the hope that by demanding redress through the officials of this government the Ecuadorian government may be forced to respect the rights of Americans in the future.

The Development of Ecuador.

Up to 1898 there were but few Americans in the country, but in that year an Anglo-Saxon company closed a contract with the government of Ecuador to extend the railroad—then in operation from Guayaquil to Chimbo, a distance of about 55 miles—from Chimbo to Quito, the capital, a distance of about 250 miles. The enterprise involved the expenditure of millions and the employment of thousands of men. The president of the company, the general manager and nearly all the officers and contractors are Americans.

Labor was difficult to obtain and the J. P. McDonald Company, which contracted with the syndicate to build the road, imported from 4,000 to 6,000 Jamaicans and a few hundred Porto Ricans. As is generally the case in works of this kind, there was more or less friction and there were controversies among the Americans themselves and between the Americans and the natives.

The Local Magistrates.

Americans who are familiar with conditions in that country charge that a more ignorant, tyrannical and corrupt set of rascals could not possibly be found than these police officials, or many of them. There have been many complaints of outrages committed by these officials upon Americans, but so far no redress has been obtained except that in one or two instances the magistrates have been dismissed. Most of the Americans from motives of policy, endured these wrongs in silence, but now several of them propose to seek compensation for their sufferings.

One of these is John W. Conner, a citizen of Knoxville, Tenn., and a man of prominence. He was a delegate to both of the national conventions which nominated Mr. McKinley. At one time he held a good government position in Porto Rico, but he resigned that to take a railroad contract under the McDonald Company. A dispute with some of the native transporters of merchandise, which is carried over the mountains in Ecuador on the backs of mules and Indians, resulted in his being arrested by the police magistrate of Alausi and thrown into a filthy jail without even the formality of a trial. Mr. Conner's description of these jails shows them to be pest holes of filth and disease beyond anything that the people of the United States can imagine. As the amount involved was small, and as Conner was willing to submit to almost anything rather than incur the risk of disease in that pest hole, he paid what was demanded and was released after a short incarceration. He is now suing for illegal imprisonment.

The Bolan Case.

Mr. M. J. Bolan is a native of Springfield, Ohio, a railroad contractor and a gentleman who enjoys the respect and esteem of those who know him. Something of his troubles has become known through the cabled reports from Guayaquil, and the vigorous action of the late consul general, Mr. DeLeon, in forcing the authorities to release him from jail. This was only accomplished, however, after he had been illegally imprisoned for nearly four days. Bolan was a foreman, or camp boss, for one of the sub-contractors, Mr. Shea. Two natives, who claimed that Shea owed them money for procuring peons to work on the road, entered into a conspiracy with a police magistrate of Alausi named Merchan to force Bolan to pay the money claimed or to extort it from the railroad company. Early in December this magistrate had Bolan thrown into jail on a charge of refusing to pay the sums claimed by his co-conspirators. Bolan claimed that he was merely an employee of Mr. Shea, which was a fact, and it was shown that Mr. Shea had made no contract of the kind claimed.

Nevertheless, Bolan was thrown into jail on the judgment of Magistrate Merchan, who held that he owed the two natives 2,400 sucres, the sucre being nearly 50 cents American. He was released on bail after his first arrest, but was later taken by a squad of soldiers and cast in jail under the order of the magistrate that he stay there until the sum was paid. The magistrate under the law did not have jurisdiction in cases involving more than 160 sucres, but that made no difference in the result. It seems that the magistrates, who are usually men of no standing or qualification for a judicial office, cannot be appealed from. Under the so-called peon law their power is absolute. Even the president of the republic cannot pardon one of their victims. He must pay the amount adjudged against him or submit to perpetual sentence in one of the vile prisons.

Threats of an American Warship.

Bolan was finally permitted to remain at liberty to employ a lawyer or consult with the company. He went to Victoria and appealed to the American consul general. Mr. Perry Allen, an American lawyer now in Ecuador, but a resident of Washington, was engaged to represent him. Bolan went to Guayaquil and there was rearrested and thrown into jail. After he had been imprisoned seventy-seven hours his release was effected by Consul General DeLeon. A third, fourth and fifth attempt was made to arrest him and take him to Alausi in chains, but DeLeon refused to give him up. It was only after the consul general had threatened to cable for a war ship that the authorities permitted Bolan to leave the country.

It was for his strenuous action in this case that the Ecuador authorities declared DeLeon persona non grata. This seems to be a favorite method resorted to by some of the South American republics to get rid of a diplomatic representative of another government who insists in securing protection for American citizens. Bolan suffered seriously, both in pocket and in health, by the action of the Ecuadorian officials, and says that but for Consul General DeLeon he might have died in jail. He was ill for two weeks or more with fever while refugeeing at the consulate.

Other Outrages on Americans.

A number of other outrages were from time to time perpetrated upon Americans. An explosion occurred at one point of the work on the railroad and a workman was killed. The American in charge, a Mr. Regan, was arrested and taken to prison in Chimbo with a rope around his neck. On his arrival, after a 25-mile tramp through mud knee deep, he was put in stocks formed of heavy timbers and iron bars. He was kept in prison several days, was denied a hearing, but was finally released without even a charge having been brought against him.

D. C. Stapleton, vice president and general manager of a mining company, who is a friend of Speaker Henderson, was thrown into jail by the judge, a barefoot, half-naked negro, who told him there was no charge against him, but that the friends of the judge, other negroes and halfbreeds, clamored for his imprisonment. He was kept in the unspeakably foul jail one night and part of the following day, the jail being surrounded by a howling mob crying out, "Kill the Gringo." Their animosity was due to Stapleton's having refused to have certain business dealings with them. He was finally released without trial.

Some idea of life in Ecuador can be gathered from the experience of the wife of the Spanish minister. She is an Italian lady and a devout member of the Catholic church. After being out for a walk or a ride, she went into a church at Quito with her hat on. In Italy ladies enter churches with their hats on, but in Quito they do not. Wholly unaware of this edict of custom, she went into the church wearing her hat. A fanatical woman rushed up to her, struck her a severe blow in the face, tore her hat from her head, the hat pin inflicting a deep wound. The incident naturally created a great sensation, but the assailant of the minister's wife escaped discovery. Not long ago the lives of the American missionaries were threatened by a mob. General Alfaro, then president, furnished them a guard and put down the demonstration by threatening the archbishop that he would be held responsible if any harm accrued to the persons of property of the missionaries.

The Selser Case.

Of all the cases of Americans, that of Leopard Selser presents the best evidence of the terrible results folowing incarceration in the jail of Ecuador. That they are pest holes of indescribable filth and loathsome disease seems to be clearly demonstrated by his experience.

Selser is a native of Minnesota. He and two companions became involved in a difficulty with a citizen in which they got the better of it. All, it seems, had been drinking some. They were pursued by the police and beaten and mangled in a most shocking manner. Selser received three machete cuts over his head. In self defense he shot and mortally wounded one of his assailants. He was thrown into jail where he was insensible over twelve hours. Despite his wounds and desperate condition physically, he was kept in chains, hand and foot, eighteen days and then taken to Guayaquil where he was imprisoned nearly ten months without preliminary trial. A prominent attorney of Ecuador, a native of the country, furnishes this description of the jail in which Selser was confined for ten months without being given the preliminary hearing guaranteed by the code:

"Within each cell there are barrels of excrement; the prisoner is never allowed to breathe fresh air in the court yard, and never knows what a bath is. In the poisoned air of a damp cell and in an exasperating climate like that of this city, the most robust person may contract a mortal disease after thirty days' confinement. A judge who wants to assassinate an accused has only to delay the procedure and extend it indefinitely or eternally."

Ten Months in That Hole.

Selser was not allowed to communicate with the American officials, and it was not for about ten months after his arrest that the consul general learned of his plight. By that time his condition was so pitiful and the representations of the consul general were so strenuous that the officials became scared and allowed Selser to go aboard the cruiser Philadelphia, which had been sent to Ecuador to investigate the complaints of Mr. DeLeon. The man was taken on the Philadelphia as far as Panama and by the aid of the sailors on that ship, who raised a purse for him, he got to New York. He is now a physical wreck. He went into prison a robust man; at Panama he weighed only 112 pounds, and he is now in a very feeble condition from which he may never recover.

The Peon Law Denounced.

The persecutions inflicted upon Americans have in a number of cases been under the guise of the peon law, which is denounced by Americans as one of the most disgraceful that stains the statutes of any nation. While technically this law cannot apply to cases of alleged indebtedness of foreigners, the petty magistrates seem to have arbitrarily so applied it. That was done in the Bolan case and in several others.

This peon law was enacted when slavery was nominally abolished to give the landowners absolute control of the bodies, and it would seem the souls, of the laborers, relieving them of all the responsibility that ownership of slaves would involve, but at the same time giving them the profit and advantage to be derived from the labor of the serfs so long as they are able-bodied.

It is asserted that southern slavery, in its worst form under the most brutal overseer, was a boon and blessing compared to this peonage system in Ecuador.

It is under this peon law that Bolan and other prominent Americans have been cast into the jails by magistrates from whose decisions there is no appeal under the law of Ecuador, no matter how corrupt the magistrate may be or how shocking to justice is his decision.

CITY WHELMED BY BIG FLOOD

Several Lives Are Lost and Much Property Destroyed at Joliet, Illinois.

SCORES OF FAMILIES ARE DRIVEN FROM HOMES

Many People Are Rescued in Boats by the Police—Water Rushed in Torrents Through Streets. Railroads Are in Hopeless Condition.

Joliet, Ills., June 3.—Joliet is in the grasp of the worst flood in its history. All the lower portion of the city is under water, and it is rumored that several lives have been lost. The police have the names of Eddie McGovers, Lizzie McGean and a little girl named Kennedy, drowned. Several families had narrow escapes and the police rescued many in boats. Scores of families have been driven from their homes, and several houses and other buildings were swept away.

All the principal streets are under water, and factories and business places all over the city are flooded. The damage to property is estimated at $100,000. The street car lines are all severely damaged, and no cars are running. All trains are stalled, water being 2 feet deep over the railroad tracks. Heavy rains, which continued all night, caused Hickory and Spring creeks to burst their banks, and a portion of Hickory creek dam, east of the city, has partially collapsed, sending the flood waters down in a torrent. Scores of homes have from one to three feet of water in the first stories.

The railroads are in a hopeless condition. The Rock Island bridge over the drainage canal has been moved 18 inches out of line by the flood, and no trains can pass. The tracks of the Chicago and Alton and of the Santa Fe are under water, and a Santa Fe bridge south of the city was washed away.

Business is paralyzed and all the schools are closed. The streets that are not submerged are thronged with sightseers. The police and firemen, assisted by volunteer squads of helpers, are at work all over the city relieving suffering.

The flood is slowly receding.

Full Blood Chosen Chief.

Wewoka, Ind. T., June 3.—Halsutta Mioco, a full-blood, was today elected chief of the Seminole Indians, defeating John F. Brown, a half-blood, who is just completing his fourth term. Brown is one of the most influential chiefs in the territory, and his defeat will, it is believed, have a tendency to hasten the dissolution of the Seminole tribal government.

INTO A WHITE HOT FURNACE

Professor Heilprin, George Kennan and Mr. Varian Took a Peep.

STOOD ON VERY EDGE OF MONT PELEE'S CRATER

Kennan Says They Saw Far Down Into the Crater, Which Emits Steam Through Thousands of Orifices—Huge Cakes of Sulphur.

Fort de France, June 3, 1 p. m.—George Kennan, accompanied by Messrs. Jaccaci and Varian, arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, after an absence of twelve days. Professor Angelo Heilprin, president of the Philadelphia Geographical Society, who is in Martinquie under the auspices of the National Geographical Society, and Mr. Ledbetter are expected to reach Fort de France tonight.

Professor Heilprin, Mr. ennan and Mr. Varian have ascended Mont elee. They stood on the very edge of the crater and looked down on the incandescent mass within. This ascent was made last Sunday and was the second time Professor Heilprin climbed the mountain. All the explorers are in perfect health and good spirits. No accidents occurred on the trip up the mountain, although the explorers were exposed to many hardships and dangers.

In an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press, Mr. Kennan said:

"Five of us started for the crater of the volcano last Sunday, and three of us reached our objective. We crossed Lake Palmiste, which is now dry and full of boulders and huge ragged rocks of trachyte, rhyolite and andesite. We then climbed up and reached the edge of the crater. We found it to be a huge chasm, or crevasse, with perpendicular walls. W ecould not see down into the crater more than 150 feet; it was like looking into a white hot furnace. The chasm opens out towards St. Ierre, but the enormous columns of steam cut off the view in that direction. There were hundreds of fumaroles all about us. What was thought to be a cone of cinders, in the crater was learned in reality to be a huge pile of gigantic rocks. There were cakes of sulphur everywhere, we sa wno ashes or cinders in or near the crater. The whole vast bed of the old crater and of Lake Palmiste is emitting steam through thousands of orifices.

"The ascent of Lake almiste is up a long and sharp incline covered with ashes. These had been soaked by the rain and as we proceeded there were terrifying gorges full of hot, volcanic debris on each side of us. Every footstep dislodged ashes and our footing was most insecure. There were also clouds of sulphurous smoke through which the sunlight swept at intervals. The ascent was the most terrifying experience of my life, yet Professor Heilprin, the previous day, had sat enveloped in darkness on the lip of what was once Lake almiste, and had descended the horrible crater in a thunderstorm of volcanic clouds and almost complete darkness."

On the night of the 26th occurred the great explosion of the volcano. All that day Mont Pelee had been vomiting masses of yellow, mud-colored vapor. We now knew that this presages a serious explosion. We heard fearful detonations during the 26th and huge columns of black smoke, alive with lightning-like and terrifying flashes rose from the crater. A great column, which rose to the height of a mile and a half was lit up by fire of the fierce reflection of the incandescent mass within the crater. The population of Vive plantation became panic stricken at the eruption and went to Acier, 2 miles farther away. Mr. aJccaci and I returned to Vive.

"The day had been one of terrifying experiences and of inconceivable grandeur.

"The 30th we tried to ascend to the crater from this side, along the Cale Basse divide. From the crest of the divide we had a wonderful view into the awful Fallaise valley, which was a tremendous seething gorge of terrible volcanic activity. We were driven back by a severe thunderstorm, and very nearly lost each other in the dense volcanic clouds. We planted a record stake at the highest point we reached, on which we inscribed our names. While at Morne Rouge we saw and interrogated the man who was rescued from the dungeon in St. Pierre, and who is the only real survivor of the city."

Mont Pelee is quiet today, but great volumes of steam are issuing from the volcano. The lower mud craters, however, are still pouring forth torrents. The Lerecheur district is said to be caving in, but this report has not been verified.

TITLE AND CASH FOR KITCHENER

He Will Be Liberally Rewarded for Pacifying South Africa.

Half Million Dollars Will Likely Be Granted to Him by Parliament. King Edward Cables His Congratulations to Kitchener.

London, June 4.—Contrary to custom, the house of lords will hold a sitting today to receive a message from King Edward with reference to peace in South Africa. It is expected that this message will announce the conferring of a title upon Lord Kitchener and the granting to him of a reward for his services. The money reward will probably be £100,000.

It now appears that Lord Kitchener will not return to London for the king's coronation, and Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, has said that the government does not propose to have the new South African colonies represented at the crowning of King Edward. Transvaal and Orange River representatives could hardly reach London in time for the function.

King Congratulates Kitchener.

King Edward has cabled his congratulations on the conclusion of peace to Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa. The text of the royal dispatch to Lord Milner is as follows:

"I am overjoyed at the news of the surrender of the Boers, and I warmly congratulate you on the able manner in which you have conducted the negotiations."

To this message Lord Milner replied:

"I offer my deepest thanks for your majesty's gracious message. I am profoundly thankful that your majesty's coronation will be celebrated with peace throughout your South African dominions."

The following is the text of King Edward's dispatch to Lord Kitchener:

"I send you my most hearty congratulations on the termination of hostilities. I also heartily congratulate my brave troops under your command for having brought this long and difficult campaign to so glorious and successful a conclusion."

To this message Lord Kitchener replied:

"The army in South Africa highly appreciates your majesty's most gracious message, which I am now communicating to it. I humbly beg to thank your majesty."

Signing of the Agreement.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Monday, June 2.—The signing of the peace agreement on Saturday night last was carried out with the least possible ceremony. Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner and General DeWet and others representing the Orange Free State and General Schalk-Berger and others of the Transvaal government, quietly met in the dining room of the residence occupied by the burgher delegates adjoining Lord Kitchener's house. The document lay on a table ready. Amid profound silence the Boer leaders took a pen in order of precedence and affixed their signatures, thus surrendering the independence for which they had so gallantly struggled. The document was then entrusted to Colonel Hamilton, Lord Kitchener's military secretary, and Captain Marker and an aide de camp, who left Pretoria tonight to deliver it to King Edward.

There was great rejoicing in all the concentration comps upon receipt of the news that peace had been concluded. The occupants assembled in the open spaces and chanted psalms, the women weeping with joy. Arrangements are being made to send representatives of each unit of the British army in South Africa to participate in the coronation festivities in London.

Kruger and Friends Confer.

Utrecht, Holland, June 3.—The Boer delegates in Europe arrived here this afternoon. They held a prolonged conference in the house of Mr. Kruger, and afterwards another meeting was held in the Hotel Des Pays Bas. None of the delegates was willing to talk with regard to the conclusion of peace or of what had been done at today's meeting. Dr. Leyds and Mr. Fischer will remain here. Mr. Wessels and Mr. Wolmarans have proceeded for The Hague.

The Handelsblad says that neither Mr. Kruger nor any of the Boer delegates in Europe has received any communication from the Boers in South Africa concerning peace.

"The inference is," says the paper, "that the British government is stopping such dispatches."

Many Prisoners Sad.

Bombay, June 3.—The news of the conclusion of peace in South Africa was received with mixed feelings in the Boer prison camps here. A majority of the prisoners rejoiced, but many of them considered the news to be bad, as it meant the loss of all they had been fighting for.

"We would have stayed in captivity for years without complaint," said many of the Boers, "had such been the judgment of the burghers."

Believe They Have Won.

Jamestown, Island of St. Helena, June 3.—The news of the peace agreement in South Africa created the greatest enthusiasm in the Boer prison camps here, and was celebrated with singing Boer and British anthems. A majority of the Boers on this island insist that the peace carried independence with it.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON SCORED FOR WHISKY AND YACHTING

London, June 3.—The annual meeting of the company known as "Lipton, Limited," produced some interesting complaints from the shareholders over the reduction of the amount of the dividend. One man said that if Sir Thomas, the chairman, attended a little more to business and a little less to yacht racing, the conditions would be improved.

Other shareholders loudly denounced the action of Sir Thomas Lipton in going into the liquor business.

Sir Thomas Lipton's gift of the company's advertising expenses was also criticised, a shareholder, amid remarks of approval, declaring that he did not want to be bolstered up by one man or be the recipient of charity.

Sir Thomas replied by saying that it was not too late for the shareholders to refuse the gift, but this offer produced no takers, and eventually all the directors were reelected and the meeting passed a vote of thanks to Sir Thomas Lipton.

APPEAL FOR LAW AND ORDER.

McGarity Speaks on Sheriff's Race in Carroll County.

Carrollton, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—At the court house here at 11 o'clock this morning, Hon. John C. McGarity, of Victory, candidate for representative in the coming primary, addressed a good house on the issues in the present campaign in Carroll county. He devoted himself to the issue of law and order in the sheriff's race in Carroll county at the present time as between the present sheriff, J. L. Merrell, and ex-Sheriff James G. Tanner, candidate for sheriff.

Carroll county politics are redhot on the sheriff's race, on account of Sheriff Merrell's courageous defense of the jail here on the 7th of last June, when a mob was repelled by him in an effort to lynch Ike Williams, a prisoner therein, on the charge of murder. Mr. McGarity said it had ever been his conviction that Merrell ought to be indorsed.

By a vote of seven to four the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce agreed to consider and report the Nelson bill for a department of commerce. The committee struck out the provision for a labor branch in the new department.

"BEAUTY DOCTOR" DISMISSED.

Not Responsible for the Death of Miss Mary Thompson.

Chicago, June 3.—The case against Dr. Wesley Johnson, who was arrested in connection with the death of Miss Mary Thompson, which took place last Tuesday after being treated by Dr. Johnson, has been dismissed before Justice Eberhardt. Johnson was charged with involuntary manslaughter. Miss Thompson had worn a "beauty mask" and was undergoing treatment to improve her appearance when she died.

A DINING HALL FOR EMORY.

It May Be Decided Upon at Trustee's Meeting.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—It is probable that the board of trustees at the meeting on Friday next will take steps toward the establishment of a dining hall at Emory. There is no dormitory here, the students boarding at the private houses, and for a long time the need of a dining hall has been felt.

The patrons of the school are unanimous in their opposition to the dormitory system. The establishment of a dining hall by the college authorities is considered by many the best solution of the problem of giving the very best board at the lowest price.

If the hall is established it will be under the supervision of some member of the faculty. The food served will be prepared according to the latest scientific methods, so that those who take meals there will be served with the best and most wholesome food, properly prepared.

This plan has worked admirably at the state university and at other institutions, and, therefore, it will not be in the nature of an experiment at Emory.

HOWLING MOB OF POPULISTS

So Judge Dunham Classes Crowd That Drowned His Efforts To Speak.

WARM DEBATE IS HELD IN THE TWENTY-FOURTH

Judge W. D. Crawford and E. H. McMichael, Candidates for Senator, End the Campaign with Spirited Words to the Voters.

Columbus, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—The debate at the court house tonight between W. D. Crawford and E. H. McMichael, both of the county of Marion, candidates for the democratic nomination for senator from this district, proved to be the warmest political gathering here in years. It was red hot from beginning to end.

Hon. Thos. W. Grimes, chairman of the senatorial executive committee, presided, introducing the two debaters. Mr. McMichael opened, speaking an hour. Then Judge Crawford spoke for an hour and ten minutes, and Mr. McMichael concluded in a ten minute talk.

McMichael charged that the change from a county to district primary was made to elect to the senate a candidate who would be defeated in his home county, and said that Judge Crawford and associates were fighting to preserve a county court in Marion, against which the great mass of the people of the county were opposed. He said he had voted a populist ticket in the past but had returned to the democratic party in good faith.

Judge Crawford, in his speech, said that McMichael was still a populist and that the populists of Marion county, who were in a majority, were trying to force a populist on the district. He denounced his opponent as "One of democracy's vilest enemies." He denied in vigorous terms that the county court was an issue. There were all sorts of charges and counter charges, affidavits and counter affidavits, and the joint debate grew quite sensational.

Speaker's Voice Is Drowned.

At its conclusion Judge J. J. Dunham, of Marion, arose to address the crowd for Judge Crawford, but it was nearly an hour before he was allowed to proceed, the crowd keeping up a deafening din.

It was charged that the people in the crowd who were creating the disturbance were Marion county populists who had come to the city in force on the afternoon train. On the other hand, it was claimed that there were only 20 Marion county persons present.

Judge Dunham referred to the crowd before him as "a howling mob of populists," and said he would stand there all night rather than be hissed down by fools.

The chief of police mounted the stand and implored for order, but without avail. Finally one-third of the crowd left and the rest quieted down and Judge Dunham proceeded with his speech, in which he compared McMichael to Judas and denounced him in the bitterest terms.

Couch Decision Is Rendered.

Montgomery, Ala., June 3.—(Special.)—The supreme court today reversed and remanded the case of the Southern Express Company versus Eugene Couch, from Jefferson circuit court. Couch was prosecuted for train robbery on a warrant sworn out by a deputy United States marshal, who was after a reward offered by the express company. He was acquitted and sued the company for malicious prosecution and got a verdict for $1,700. The company appealed and secured a reversal.

PLAN FOR ARCH MAY FAIL.

MRS. JEFFERSON DAVIS AND DAUGHTER IN OPPOSITION.

Directors Daughters of Confederacy Had a Heated Discussion Yesterday in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—(Special.)—The opposition of Mrs. Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Hayes, to an arch on Broad street as a memorial to President Jefferson Davis seems likely to override the fixed decision of the monument committee that the memorial take this form.

The board of directors of the Daughters of the Confederacy spent four hours today in a heated discussion and adjourned till tomorrow without a decision being reached. The session may extend through two or three days.

The board viewed the eight arch models submitted after their conference today, and the fact that nearly all of them call for memorials of much greater expense than has been anticipated suggests a very good reason for rejecting these designs and calling for a new competition.

HON. W. N. NASH FOR GOVERNOR

He Is Now Being Strongly Urged in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—A strong effort is being made by the friends of Hon. Wiley N. Nash, of Oktibbeha, to induce him to enter the race for governor next year, and it is asserted with some degree of confidence by a few of his supporters that he will be quite likely to take part in the fight. General Nash held the office of attorney general during the administration of Governor McLaurin and has a strong following in the northern counties.

It is asserted with assurance that State Senator Noel, author of the new primary election law, will become a candidate, and that his formal announcement will be made in due course of time. During the week there has been a revival of the report that Judge F. A. Critz, of West Point, is likely to enter the race.

With the candidacy of Messrs. A. A. Kincannon, J. T. Harrison, Monroe McClurg, A. J. Russell and James K. Vardeman almost positively assured and Messrs. Nash, Noel and Critz as probable candidates, the gubernatorial race assumes a new aspect and each move on the political checker board will be narrowly watched from now on.

Among the political wiseacres, Professor Kincannon is regarded as the leading candidate at present, but there is no certainty that he can continue to retain this position.

THE YAZOO CITY POSTMASTER.

Contest Will Be Carried Direct to the President.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—E. S. Wilson, the republican patronage referee for Mississipi, is now in Washington to present his side of the case in the Yazoo City postmastership contest. The matter will be carried direct to the president.

Captain Everett, the postmaster who was ousted in advance of the expiration of his term, is also on the ground armed with letters and petitions to show that Referee Wilson obtained the indorsements for John P. Bennett, his successor, under false pretenses, having assured citizens who were asked to give their indorsements that he desired to appoint Mr. Bennett as a deputy United States marshal.

THE FIGHT FOR OPEN SALOONS.

Petition Asking for Special Election Signed by 1,300.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—The fight for open saloons in Hinds county was started at Raymond today when a petition containing 1,300 signatures was presented to the board of supervisors asking for a special election on the liquor question. The prohibitionists and saloonists have engaged attorneys for the fight, and each inch of ground will be stubbornly contested. The prohibitionists threaten to publish all the names on the petition, but thus far it has had little effect, although doubtless many of the timid will withdraw their signatures.

WOMEN'S FEUD ENDS IN BLOOD

Probably Fatal Wound Is Inflicted With Pistol in Fayetteville, Ark.

MISS BOATWRIGHT FALLS AT MRS. MOOREHOUSE'S AIM

This Is the Second Attempt Made by the Woman—She Is Now Under Arrest—Reports Vary as to the Cause.

Fayetteville, Ark., June 3.—(Special.)—Considerable excitement was created in Ben Breek's drug store this morning about 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Fannie Moorehouse, it is charged, shot, and, it is thought, probably fatally injured Miss Ella Boatwright. The bullet pierced the spinal chord in the lower part of the back. There were no eyewitnesses to the affair.

The assailant was arrested by the sheriff and is held awaiting results. This is the second attempt Mrs. Moorehouse has made on the life of Miss Boatwright.

Reports are varied as to the cause of the shooting.

RATTLESNAKE A LA CARTE.

Captain Dabney, of Mississippi, To Give Famous Supper.

Clarksdale, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—Captain A. L. Dabney, a prominent citizen of this place, announces to his friends that he will serve one of his famous rattlesnake suppers within the next fortnight and a number of invitations have been issued to the event.

A monster rattlesnake was recently captured by Captain Dabney and is now undergoing the fattening process. The supper will take place at a time when, in the judgment of the host, the reptile has attained sufficient obesity to be proper for serving. The poison sac has been carefully extracted, and the operation was performed without mishap.

About two years ago Captain Dabney startled Memphis with one of his rattlesnake suppers at a prominent cafe, and those who had the nerve to partake of the repast declared that the snake had a delicious flavor, being a happy medium between the frog leg and spring chicken.

POLES NO CAUSE FOR DAMAGE.

The Supreme Court of Mississippi Has So Decided.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—At its sitting last evening the supreme court of Mississippi declared that an owner cannot claim damage to property on account of poles and electric light wires being erected in front thereof.

The point was brought up in the case of the Gulf Coast Manufacturing Company vs. Bowers, from Hancock county. Mr. Bowers, who is one of the candidates for congress in that district, owns several fine lots in Bay St. Louis facing on the gulf, and he declared in the application for injunction that the erection of the electric light poles and wires by the company damaged his view of the peaceful waters of the sound.

The supreme court dissolved the temporary restraining order and dismissed the case.

MAY SCRAMBLE FOR OFFICE.

Several Now Seek Place Vacated by Abercrombie's Election.

Montgomery Ala., June 3.—(Special.)—A lively scramble is now promised for the nomination of state superintendent of education, Mr. Abercrombie's election to the presidency of the university having removed him from the race. He was supposed to have a sure thing of the superintendency, and only Colonel Tom Bulger had ventured to oppose him.

As soon as he learned of the election today, Major John G. Harris, who held the office during the Jones administration, announced himself a candidate for the nomination, though he would not apply for the vacancy.

Colonel Bulger is here, and will apply for appointment to the vacancy at the hands of the governor. Other announcements are expected in rapid succession.

Cory for Superintendent.

Alexander City, Ala., June 3.—(Special.) The announcement of the election of Hon. John W. Abercrombie as president of the state university, and his consequent retirement from the race for state superintendent of education, has caused unusual activity among the friends of Hon. Chappel Cory, of Montgomery, and he is urged to make the race. Mr. Cory has been prominent in state affairs for a number of years; was for four years private secretary to Governor Joseph F. Johnston, and at present is employed in the office of Superintendent Abercrombie. He is, therefore, thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office, besides being a thorough scholar, and personally very popular with the masses, and would make a strong race throughout the state.

The closing exercises of the Valdosta public schools will occur next Thursday and Friday. A very fine programme will mark the close of probably the best year in the history of the system. Rev. J. E. White, D. D., of Atlanta, will deliver the literary address on Friday evening.

Staten yesterday in a fish net which he stretched across a river lagoon back of his plantation. Mr. Staten judged from the pull on the net when he took hold of it that he had all the fish he was looking for, but was considerably surprised when he and a companion finally got it out of the water.

During the course of the commencement exercises General Gordon delivered his famous lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy" to a very large and appreciative audience. After the lecture he held a reception. All were anxious to grip the hand of one of the few remaining conspicuous men of the civil war.

Hon. R. G. Dickenson, of Clinch county, made the literary address. It was well suited to the occasion, and well filled with most excellent advice to the young men entering upon a business life.

ON A QUINTET OF CHARGES LOGAN COMES INTO COURT

KNOXVILLE, TENN., June 3.—Charles Johnson, alias Harvey Logan, alias Kid Curry, the alleged Montana train robber, was given his first breath of fresh air today when, handcuffed and surrounded by deputy sheriffs, he was taken from jail to the court house to stand trial on five different charges.

On two minor ones he was fined and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. On the three major charges shooting two policemen and bringing stolen property into the state, continuances were taken to the September term of court.

The attorney general tried to enter a nolle prosse in these cases, so that United States Marshal Austin and deputies, who were present in the crowded court room, could arrest the prisoner on United States warrants, but the judge refused to entertain the motion.

Logan is believed to have participated in the Great Northern train robbery in which $40,000 was secured. One-fourth of that amount was recovered here after his arrest for shooting two policemen. He has been in solitary confinement nearly six months and has four more ahead of him before his next trial.

Chief Detective Canada, of the Union Pacific railroad, returned to Omaha tonight. He was disappointed that Logan's cases had not been transferred to the federal court.

HONOR IS PAID DAVIS' MEMORY

The South Celebrates Natal Day of Confederacy's President.

MISSISSIPPIANS GIVE TO FUND FOR BEAUVOIR

Tombs of Lee and Jackson Are Decorated in Old Dominion—Southern Crosses Are Conferred Upon Veterans of South Carolina.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—The anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, the reverend president of the southern confederacy, was generally observed today throughout Mississippi, public exercises being held at many places.

The observance in the public schools of the state assumed a new phase. Pursuant to an order of the state board of education, a collection was taken up among the school children to raise funds with which to purchase "Beauvoir," the old Davis home near Biloxi, which the Sons of Veterans propose to convert into a home for indigent ex-confederates. The contributions, judging from reports thus far received, were quite liberal.

The executive committee of the Sons of Veterans met here today and organized under the provisions of the charter allowing the organization to acquire title to the property. At the next legislative session it will be donated to the state if proper provisions are made for its maintenance.

TOMBS OF LEE AND JACKSON.

They Are Decorated on Birthday of President Davis.

Lexington, Va., June 3.—Confederate memorial day was observed here today by the decoration of the tomb of General Robert E. Lee at Washington and Lee university and the grave of General Thomas J. Jackson (Stonewall) in the Lexington cemetery. The address was delivered by Rev. Dr. G. W. Finley, of Tinkling Spring, Va., who spoke on "The Confederate Private Soldier" in Lee memorial chapel. The cadet corps of the Virginia Military institute, with their post band and a number of civic bodies, were in the parade.

OBSERVANCE IN GREENVILLE.

Honor Is Paid There to Dead Chieftain's Memory.

Greenville, S. C., June 3.—(Special.)—Memorial day exercises were fittingly observed here today. Exercises were held at the Grand opera house and were attended by veterans, sons and daughters of veterans, college teachers and students numbering fully twelve hundred.

Addresses were made by Bishop Ellison Capers, of Charleston, and President James, of Greenville Female college, after which southern crosses of honor were conferred upon ninety-one veterans.

At the conclusion of exercises at the opera house the large crowd accompanied by the Smyth Rifles of Pelzer, Captain J. Adger Smyth, Jr., and the Greenville Light Infantry, Captain E. M. Blythe, under command of Colonel J. C. Boyd, marched to Springwood cemetery, where a salute was fired over the graves of the confederate dead. The exercises altogether were largest attended and were the most successful Memorial day exercises ever held here.

THE TRIBUTE OF RICHMOND.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—This, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, was observed here today as a state holiday, the offices at the capitol and the city hall and the public schools being closed.

This evening a portrait of President Davis was presented to R. E. Lee camp of Confederate Veterans. The presentation speech was made by Captain Charles M. Blackford, of Lynchburg, and the picture was received by Commander Gervas Storrs, of the camp.

EGAN RESIGNS PRESIDENCY.

HANSON SUCCEEDS AS OCEAN STEAMSHIP CO.'S HEAD.

Former Will Devote His Time Exclusively to Affairs of the Central.

Savannah, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—A special meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Ocean Steamship Company and the New England and Savannah Steamship Company was held today at which the resignation of President John M. Egan was received and Major J. F. Hanson, of Macon, was elected in his stead. Major Hanson is chairman of the board of directors of the Central railway.

Mr. Egan, owing to the pressure of action of the railway lines of the Central of Georgia Railway Company, tendered his resignation as president of the steamship company in order that he might devote all of his time to the railway business. This step was also taken in view of the desire of the steamship company that its business and that of the railway company should be separated so far as it is practicable to do so.

Attention was called to the fact that the charter of the steamship company, which was granted by the legislature of 1872, will expire by limitation on August 26 of this year. Steps were taken for a renewal and extension of this charter for a further period of thirty years from August 26, 1902, and also for the adoption by the steamship company as a part of its charter of the provisions of the general law of Georgia for the incorporation of navigation companies.

This is a broadening of the present charter power of the Ocean Steamship Company, but does not mean any change in its business. The by-laws of the steamship company were also amended so as to authorize an increase of the directors from five to nine or any less number, and the election of a chairman of the board of directors and a vice president, and the creation of an executive committee, all of this to be done in the discretion of the board.

HAIL DESTROYS HANCOCK CROPS

Furious Storm Does Great Damage There.

ROOF IS BEATEN FROM BARN

Cotton Is Stripped of Its Foliage, Corn, Wheat and Oats All Beaten to the Ground, Peaches and Other Fruits Ruined.

Sparta, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—Late Saturday afternoon a disastrous hail storm visited Sparta and the section of country lying directly north, doing incalculable damage to growing crops. A number of farmers who were in the path of the storm, which was about half a mile in width, came in town today and reported serious losses.

Cotton was stripped of foliage, corn, wheat and oats were beaten to the ground, peaches and other fruits were knocked from the trees and many limbs broken by the pelting hail stones.

Anderson Burgamy, an industrious and thrifty farmer, was the heaviest loser so far heard from. His farm of fifty acres lay in the center of the storm's track, and his crop is totally destroyed. Not a stalk of cotton was left standing, his grain was ruined, fencing blown down and much damage done to his barn. Shingles were knocked off the roof by the hail stones, which were of enormous size.

Other farmers whose crops were partially destroyed were: Messrs. S. D. Rogers, Henry Alsabrook, William Alsabrook, John P. Culver and Harry Culver.

The fruit farms of W. P. Beman and E. H. Berry escaped with slight damage, and the large orchards of W. N. Coleman, W. Stevens, H. R. White and C. F. Cary were not in the storm's path.

BATTLE FOUGHT WITH THIEF.

Man Is Awakened and Exchanges Shots with Burglar.

Toccoa, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—Henly Stonecypher, of Avalon, a station on the Southern railway a few miles from Toccoa, had an exciting experience with a burglar last night.

Stonecypher clerks for a large mercantile firm of Avalon, and sleeps in the store. Last night he was awakened by a noise. As soon as his eyes opened he discovered some one near him in the act of striking a match. As he raised up in bed the match went out and another match was struck. Stonecypher leaped from the bed, and without hesitation the intruder drew his pistol and began firing.

As the store was in total darkness none of the shots took effect. Stonecypher rushed a few steps away for his shot gun and fired two shots in the direction of the burglar. After emptying his shot gun he procured a winchester rifle and fired several shots with that, but so far as he knows his shots were ineffective.

Stonecypher says that by the light of the match he could see that the burglar was a negro and that he did not know him. The negro fired five or six shots and then escaped from the store and to the woods near by, leaving his hat where he dropped it in the store.

HEROES' STATUES IN FOREST CITY

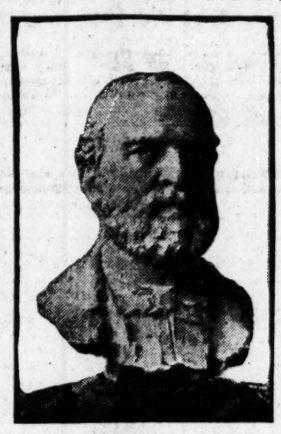
McLaws and Bartow Monuments Unveiled in Savannah.

HONOR TO MEMORY OF DAVIS

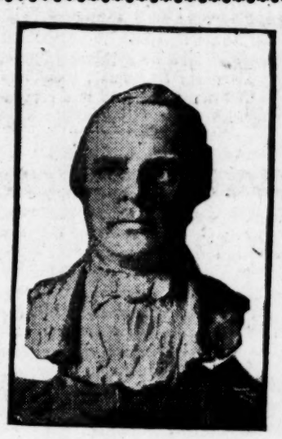
Picturesque Incident in Celebration of Birthday Anniversary President of Confederacy Was Presentation of Tributes in Chippewa Square.

Savannah, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—With imposing ceremonies the monuments to General Lafayette McLaws and General Francis S. Bartow, heroes of the confederacy, were unveiled in Savannah today. The event will long be remembered by Savannahians and the visitors who witnessed the exercises.

Line was formed at 5 o'clock in the military parade ground, Colonel Jordan F. Brooks being marshal, with the following staff: Captain A. J. Pursley, Lafayette McLaws camp of veterans, W. T. Dixon, Francis S. Bartow Camp of Sons of Veterans; G. H. Remshart, Confederate Veterans' Association; Captain C. A. L. Cunningham and F. M. Butner. The organizations in line were five of the six local companies of the First regiment, infantry, Georgia state troops, the Savannah Volunteer Guards, the naval militia, the Lawton Cadets, the Savannah Preparatory School Cadets, the Chatham Artillery, the Georgia Hussars, the Oglethorpe Light Infantry as a special guard of honor, the Confederate Veterans' Association, Lafayette McLaws Camp of Veterans, and the Francis S. Bartow Camp of Sons of Veterans. A procession of carriages brought up the rear, in which were seated some of the survivors of the Oglethorpe Light Infantry who were in the first battle of Manassas. The day's honors to confederate heroes brought to them memories of that day in May, 1861, when they left Savannah for the front to "illustrate Georgia," as their captain, the gallant Bartow, then declared their mission to be. Before the old Holcombe residence, on Gaston street, E. W. Tupper presented to the Oglethorpes on behalf of several ladies who had made it, a beautiful confederate flag, and the brave soldier who was so soon to give his life for his cause, in his response uttered the following noble sentiment:



GENERAL LAFAYETTE McLAWS.



GENERAL FRANCIS S. BARTOW.

The Sentiment of Bartow.

"You have been pleased to allude to patriotic zeal, which has fired the hearts of my corps. You have done them but simple justice. I have not led them to this fight; they have led me. But with this banner presented by your fair hands I promise to lead them hereafter.

"They will preserve this flag, pure and unsullied, and I pledge you this day in their behalf, that should they fail to bring it back to you it will be because there is not one arm left among them to bear it aloft."

Arriving at Chippewa square, on Bull street, where the monuments are located, the parade was halted. The speakers and guests ascended the platform that had been erected between the monuments and the military was massed within hearing distance, the Oglethorpe Light Infantry, as a guard of honor, being nearest. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Fair, after which there was patriotic music by the band. Then Captain Purse eloquently introduced General Evans, the speaker of the day, who delivered his address. Miss Gertrude McLaws and Miss Francis Bartow Hight, of Marietta, granddaughter of Mrs. Ford, the oldest sister of General Bartow, unveiled the monuments, the confederate flags that had shrouded them floated free to the breeze as they pulled the cords. Songs were sung by the Children of the Confederacy, after which Captain Purse delivered the monuments to the keeping of the city, Mayor Myers accepting them on the city's behalf. Later the military was reviewed by General Evans from the balcony of the club of the Georgia Hussars.

General Evans Speaks.

The patriotic, beautiful and scholarly address of General Clement A. Evans, delivered during the unveiling exercises, was listened to with absorbed attention and frequently interrupted with appreciative applause. He spoke in part as follows:

The principles which inspired the bold acts of our Savannah forefathers and stirred their patriotic spirit into those high resolves and brave deeds which bore the fruits of American independence, find again here on this 3d day of June, 1902, a renewed illustration in the same city's splendid tributes to the patriotic heroism of President Jefferson Davis, Major General LaFayette McLaws, and General Francis S. Bartow. In honor of the first illustrious name we celebrate the anniversary of his birth. In special honor of the other two no less noble Georgians, we unveil and dedicate two durable monuments to preserve their forms and commemorate their virtues.

Reminiscence and forecast must mingle with equally inspiring force in the thoughts of the Savannah citizen as he moves over this historic ground where civil authority bulwarked by law and military auxiliaries disciplined into effective use have so often maintained the human right of life, liberty and property. Combining, however, all memorials which adorn this city, they teach together the truth chosen for this hour's theme, that both civil and military heroism are required to train a nation into true greatness—civil heroism that encourages and uses, but never abuses, the country's military power, and military heroism that holds all things subject to a just country's civil authority.

This day was made a legal holiday by Georgia to express our just regard for the unspotted character and public service of Jefferson Davis. We may, therefore, consider him as a clear and strong example of the intelligent citizen's faithful discharge of civil duties. Is there not place for heroism in civil life? Why is it not as heroic to live grandly for your country as to die chivalrously for its sake? The people of the south were not more heroic in arms than they were after surrender in their successful civil battles against the corrupt men and odious measures of reconstruction. But I present the most vivid illustration of this patriotic quality in the wondrous home heroism of southern women, which was as sublime through all the confederate war as the rarest battle bravery of our gallant southern men.

General McLaws.

With great appropriateness Savannah has erected a monument to Major General LaFayette McLaws. He was this city's defender, was chosen by his comrades the first president of their Confederate Survivors' Association, and remained their honorary president for life. This was his home and it was here his life passed away and his personal presence was exchanged into an abiding memory. General McLaws will represent to our countrymen the thoroughbred, well-trained, steady, reliable military leader, reared under democratic institutions, who respects the civil authority and is competent to safely command men who are armed to defend the rights of a free people.

He had reached his rank in the United States army by a service of twenty years, which brought him to the matured vigor of forty in the year 1861, and he had then an assured prospect of steady promotion in the military service of a country to whose glory he had dedicated himself. It was at this elevation that there came to him the serious question which men of his time had to face. Shall he give up his state, his people and his principles or will he sacrifice his military prospects of promotion? Without hesitation he followed the example of Moses, the hero of Israel, who chose to suffer affliction with his people rather than to have the riches and crown of Egypt.

General Bartow.

I will move next into view another personage not less noble than either of the two grand men to whom you have given your admiring attention. Brief, brilliant and memorable was his confederate career. Upward at a bound his fame soared ad astra, leaving with us an inextinguishable train of patriotic luster as his spirit went beyond the stars when he fell on the field of victorious battle at Manassas. From scenes in which southern arms and heroes made "glory enough for all," this occasion is not invidious in drawing before our gaze one character so richly jeweled with lustrous virtues that the manhood of all ages can never lack for high incentive as long as the memory of Francis S. Bartow lives.

Bartow, the captain of the Oglethorpe Light Infantry, had been sent at first to the confederate congress, and his command, while doing service near Savannah, burned in sympathy with their commander's eagerness to go to the front of the battle storm then looming in Virginia. With impetuous haste they offered their services, not on a limit of time, but for the war, were accepted, and in a day their commander was with them to speed their going. One fact only, that their arms belonged to Georgia, embarrassed them, but with the broad idea that the cause of all Georgia was then pending in Virginia, Bartow led his boys, arms and all else, out of their state into the midst of battle, defending his act by the one unanswerable and thrilling phrase, "I go to illustrate Georgia."

The young Georgian's most worthy and alluring dream of the future is not of himself rising the steeps of fame and becoming a luminary on which public gaze will be fixed. Instead of this, the noblest aspirations of his youthful ambition will rather urge him on to act some part in a citizen's life that will make a bright paragraph in his state's history and bring some additional honors to Georgia's name.

HORTON GOES TO WEST POINT.

WILL REPRESENT DAHLONEGA IN ORATORICAL CONTEST.

His Appointment Will Not Affect His Participation in the Coming Event.

Dahlonega, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—P. J. Horton, of Winder, Ga., a member of the present senior class of the North Georgia agricultural college, and the representative-elect of this college in the next state oratorical contest, received notification yesterday of his appointment to a cadetship in the United States military academy at West Point. The appointment was secured through Hon. F. C. Tate, representative from this congressional district.

As he will not enter the academy before June, 1903, however, his connection with the next oratorical contest is not affected.

Mr. Horton is a student in high standing in both the literary and military departments, in the latter of which he holds a state commission as cadet captain. He is a prominent member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and of the Decora Palaestra society.

The Example of a Patriot.

The memorial address made on Decoration day at the tomb of General Grant by Judge Thomas G. Jones, of Alabama, an ex-confederate, was one of the significant utterances of the day. Singular, too, was the fact that while the former foe was standing before the remains of the great captain to whom he had yielded and was eulogizing the magnanimity and generosity of the conqueror, the president of the nation, at another national Macpelah, was raking over the ashes of the dead era of internecine strife and renewing the animosities of that day by untimely contrasts.

Passing by the latter we rejoice in the exceeding good taste and loyal temper of the address made by the eminent southerner, who is now a high official of the federal judiciary. With the spirit of a true knight and the words of a sincere patriot he paid tender and grateful tribute to the soldier, statesman and reconciliator whose ashes and memory are revered by honorable men of the south and the north alike.

The confederate pilgrim to the tomb of Grant did well. What he said was neither forced nor fulsome. He voiced the regard of the honestly loyal people of the south for one who refused ignoble revenges in the midst of his victory and their humiliation. For the people of the south harbor no bitterness against any honorable foemen whose valor contributed to vanquish their hopes, and like Judge Jones they gratefully gather with garlands and praise at the tombs of such patriots as Lincoln and such heroes as Grant.

A New Doctor of Laws.

The Missouri State university deservedly recognized the genius and achievements of "Mark Twain," Mr. Samuel L. Clemens, by conferring upon him recently the degree of doctor of laws. Mr. Clemens is a native of Missouri, but has become a welcome citizen of the world of letters and humor on all continents. He did not mean to do so, but the strong sense of humor that was his special gift compelled him to become an expert dissector of human nature and one of the most genial revelators of its fancies and foibles that the present age has known.

The position of Mark Twain as a creator of modern classic humor is unchallenged. He is head and shoulders above all others who have essayed to interpret the inherent burlesquerie in human nature and essayed to shoot current follies of the motley folk of the generations that pass. It would not do to call him the prose Shakespeare of the era, for his humor lacks the precision and pure psychologic apprehension that pervades the comedy work of that superb dramatist. Nor is he the impressionist successor of Boz, for Dickens was more the story-teller par excellence than the Cruikshankian cartoonist that Twain is. Less still can he be compared with the elite "Elia," or the latter day dilettantes in light humor like Howells or Stockton. Indeed, Mark Twain is the Yorick of this Yankee nation, master of all our quaint provincial humors and inimitable delineator of all our American idiosyncrasies before all the world.

There may be sticklers who will ask why Mark Twain is deserving of the honorary degree of doctor of laws? They are those who think the honor proper only to those who have devised some new scheme of laws or application of constitutional principles, or who has enlarged the borders of some domain of pure science, or discovered some more perfect apprehension of spiritual or mental philosophy. But these ignore the fact that the human creature is the greatest enigma of time and that the laws of his operations in active relations with organized society are the supreme and sublime revelations of divine organization and functionalism. To discover and portray in familiar picture-lessons the processes and effects of human life, whether in the rough or in the recherche, is to deal with living laws of both divine and human interest and to exhibit a genius not a whit less worthy than that which composes a "Synthetic Philosophy," or invents a "Descent of Man."

Mark Twain has served his age most effectively in those living pictures of men, manners and masquerades which make his literary works almost immortal and have endeared him to the world of humor and culture. He has earned that reputation as a masterplayer on the sensitive keyboard of human passions that reaches from the keenest treble of childish laughter to the rumbling growl of the soul indignant over wrong and oppression. If any man has richly deserved and will honorably adorn the degree of doctor of laws from the extant generation it is Mark Twain.

Liberality to the Library.

If the Carnegie Free Library is to become in reality the comprehensive benefaction that was in the mind of Andrew Carnegie when he made his gift and the people of this city when they urged its acceptance, some certain and adequate system for its support must be devised by our city administrators. The institution is not one that should be niggardly treated. The great percentage of the people who have enrolled as its patrons testifies to the popular appreciation of its promises of usefulness to all classes of our progressive society.

The city of Atlanta is not so poor in resources as to justify the practical pauperization of this useful institution. We cannot afford to accept so large a gift with so much effusiveness as we did and then maltreat it. We have an intelligent people who wish the culture values of the library to their fullest extent and we also have a large student body always in our population, to whom it is an invaluable mine of research and mental food.

The library should be kept up to date in methods and supplies, and if properly treated it will become the dynamic center of forces that will enhance every value in the city and recoup a hundred fold in enterprises and general culture every dollar spent for its maintenance.

A Policy Demanding Resistance.

The passage of the bill by the senate for the alleged civil government of the Philippines advances by one stage the consummation of the republican policy of outright and downright colonialism. The prolonged debate on the measure has not been satisfactorily informing. The democrats have wasted altogether too much time discussing incidental matters of army administration and individual outrages and failed to center their fire upon the really flagrant abandonment of American ideals that is disclosed by the purpose of the bill. The republicans have retorted by attempting to put the democrats in a large campaign hole as the enemies of "our soldiers in the trenches" and in dodging all sincere discussion of the imperialistic features of their Philippines scheme of administration.

The magnificent opportunity to expose republican un-Americanism that was frittered away in the senate cannot be recouped in the house. In that body debate can be choked off by the dominant majority, and will be.

It will rest, therefore, with the saner democratic press and speakers during the campaign of the summer and fall to enlighten the people upon the iniquities of this colonial scheme. The measure will have become operative meanwhile, but that will be no reason why its unconstitutional and un-American character should not be made known to the great masses of our patriotic people. The encroachments of imperial power upon popular prerogatives throughout history have almost always begun in far-off provinces and, insidiously and unseen, crept like slow poison to the center of the national vitality.

The democracy is the only herald left in the field to warn the people and arouse them to resist this liberty-engulfing policy.

Wanted—A Frank Philippines Policy.

It is somewhat remarkable that the leaders of the administration party in the senate do not pick up the words of President Roosevelt and embody them in the Philippines bill. He says the war in the islands is "not only for the honor of the flag, but the triumph of civilization over forces which stand for the black chaos of savagery and barbarism." In that event it ought to be an easy matter for the president and his partisan friends in congress to embody in the civil government bill for the Filipinos some substantial declaration of purpose to deal with them in civilized and honestly American fashion.

If we are to trust the testimony of those who have been and are now in the islands as the executors of the administration, and are to receive at full face value the recent declarations of Aguinaldo and his late cabinet officer, Buencamino, the Filipinos who are of responsible character are not asking for a declaration of absolute independence. The Filipinos who are already civilized are said to want an assurance that if they consent to American rule they shall be ruled as Americans have been habitually ruled. They ask only the common guarantee of the constitution and the application to their status of the same rights and future hopes that have been granted to other peoples and territories heretofore incorporated into the union—such as were given to the Louisiana purchase, to Texas or latterly to the people of Porto Rico.

The conditions they fear are those they have a right to fear. They do not want a repetition of the colonial and exploiting administrations, by force of arms, that they suffered under the Spanish dominion. And as yet we have not given them hope that our rule over them will be substantially different or to better ends. From the day we landed among them we have been fighting them and wherever our arms have prevailed we have been exercising the military arm as the chief recourse in government.

Therefore, if the republican party really means at any time in the future to do better, to establish American constitutional rule in the islands, though in territorial form, it ought to be just and honest enough to say so to the Filipinos in terms that cannot be mistaken or receded from. It is impossible to many good Americans who believe we own and should continue to govern the Philippines to see wherein this government can lose anything by a frank policy with the Filipinos. Indeed, the people are largely of opinion that such frankness would lead to a speedy cessation of opposition upon the part of the Filipinos and to a lasting peace in the interests of American supremacy and Filipino loyalty. And if the president means all he says, he is morally bound to ask his party to commit itself and him to that straightforward and reputable policy.

Sister Mary as a Problem.

In these blooming days of "female advancement" it is rather dangerous to discuss the present wisdom or future effects of abolishing the old-time middle wall of partition between the male and female spheres of activity. Sister Mary has taken her own case in hand with an insistence that has stumped the power of protest upon the part of the wisest men of the age. She has summarily enlarged her borders until there is scarcely anything left of the strenuous life that can be called inviolably masculine.

Wherever we turn now we encounter the presence of woman in the trades, in the professions and in the walks of education, letters, law and politics. She presides over state legislatures occasionally in Colorado, is nominated on party tickets for state offices in Illinois and the threat is openly made that one of them may yet be sent by an equal suffrage state to sit in the United States senate!

The question of whether this state of affairs is to become permanent, or whether it is only an episode of evolving civilization, is becoming pertinent with a great many thinkers of the country.

Some close students of the social problem in the United States declare that a limit must be put upon the employment of women in certain fields of service, but the argument seems to be the other way.

In politics there is growing quietly but strongly a feeling that public offices should not be filled up with women employees. The work of postoffices and public departments was primarily meant to be done by men and the disposition to make such positions again the prerogatives of those who are voters and tax payers is increasing, both in Washington city and in political circles east and west. But the woman is in and the woman will stay in, and what is more, her successors will be women.

Before Sister Mary consents to give up her present vantage grounds she will insist upon having something to say on the subject. One of her has already said that the effort to put woman out of politics will only have the effect to put her in with both feet, and then she will "stay put!"

Better let Sister Mary alone! She is working out her own salvation, and she is a problem. She will find her own solution.

Brer John Wanamaker evidently thinks Pennsylvania deserves to have Matt Quay sit on her neck a while longer, and is doing nothing to prevent him keeping his seat.

Carrie Nation has been pardoned out of jail again, but she is too late for service in our campaign. The Kansas republicans need her at home in their own cause.

General Miles is now accused of having aided and abetted the democrats. The republicans reserved their most heinous accusation against him for the last.

The Cubans seem to have been belligerents a long time before they knew it. Why was the secret so closely guarded in this country also?

Considering their own wants in the way of salaries, the Cubans readily testify that General Wood drew pay with exceeding moderation.

Hanna "smiles" whenever referred to as our next president. But he should be careful that those smiles are not of the knock-out brand.

We assume, of course, that Kaiser Bill was too considerate to discuss the Santiago fight with such an expert sea-dog as Potts.

It may sound a little strange at first, but we will soon get used to Dr. Mark Twain and his jokes for the blues.

It is not apposite to refer to Senator Beveridge as an Indiana volcano. Indiana only produces mud springs.

There is yet time for the Fairbanks boom to be repumped and switched in close behind the Hanna motor.

IN STATE POLITICS.

The Brunswick News marvels that most of the large Georgia papers are on the fence in the gubernatorial race.

Editor Dick Grubb declares that if Estill is elected governor there will be money in the state treasury at all seasons of the year.

Darien Gazette: It is now up to the people of Georgia to elect Estill governor and see the old state prosper as never before.

Albany Herald: The politicians are now beginning to realize that Colonel Estill is not to be entirely ignored in the gubernatorial campaign.

Americus Times-Recorder: The Terrell tide is still sweeping onward, and every day new reinforcements are added to his already long list of followers.

Alpharetta Free Press: Mr. Guerry may or may not be nominated, but all are agreed that he has made and is making a wonderful race.

Brunswick News: Every newspaper man in Georgia has a kindly feeling in his heart for Colonel Estill, and no doubt many of them wish there were two governorships to give out this time.

Thomasville Times-Enterprise: While both the other candidates have criticised each other and been criticised by others, not a word of criticism on Colonel Estill has been heard. Every one knows he would make a model governor.

Athens Banner: Mr. Guerry is mad now because Sam Small is supporting Mr. Terrell. A premium could be offered with all safety for a person or a set of persons with whom Mr. Guerry is not mad. If there is such he will be mad with them after June 5.

Jackson Argus: Editor Tom Rainey sagely remarks: "If Mr. Terrell isn't governor it won't be Mr. Guerry's fault." That's no joke. Guerry's assault upon such a man as General Evans, and others, seems evident that he wants to estrange the few friends he has.

Dawson Recorder: Now, if you can convince us that to elect Mr. Guerry governor of Georgia will insure state prohibition—yea, if you can assure us that it will stop the sale of intoxicating liquors even here in Terrell county, except for medicinal purposes, we will do all in our power to aid in his election.

Oglethorpe Echo: In 1896 Mr. Guerry wrote a card to The Atlanta Constitution indorsing in the strongest of words a paragraph in a pamphlet by Dr. Haygood, saying: "We don't want this question (prohibition) tangled up in the party platforms, candidates, etc." But then "times change and men change with them"—when they want office.

Americus Times-Recorder: Mr. Guerry's platform is so wholly inconsistent with his record that the people seem to think it was made for the purpose of getting elected on. After all, it must be that way with Mr. Guerry, as it is directly at variance with the positions he has heretofore taken in public questions.

Americus Times-Recorder: While Dupont Guerry is busy writing cards and trying to explain why he has changed his ideas on all public questions, Terrell is going steadily forward making votes and friends by his manly, courteous and dignified campaign. Joe Terrell is running further ahead every day, and by June 5 will have left the Bibb county would-be reformer far in the background.

Milledgeville News: It was Dupont Guerry who, speaking of prohibition in 1896, in a card over his signature, said: "We don't want this question tangled up in party, platform, candidates, etc., for the professional politicians cannot be trusted in such issues, if any." Guerry, the candidate, is not Guerry, the citizen; and they must not be confused because they do not mix well.

Athens Banner: The Banner is for Mr. Terrell, believing that his election would be for the best interests of the state, believing that with his wonderful influence he could do more toward bringing about needed reforms than either of the other two candidates. He has been a servant of the state for the past ten years and his record is without a stain. His opponents have utterly failed to find anything against his private official record.

Vienna News: Joe Terrell will be elected by a handsome majority and the affairs of the state will move along calmly as ever. It will go hard with the would-be reformer, who will finally get over his defeat but never look the same. And as for Mr. Estill, it will not go so very hard, because he has already moved out to his country home at Isle of Hope for the summer and is prepared to take his medicine.

Albany Herald: Hon. Joe Terrell is quoted as saying in his Athens speech the other day: "Were I called upon to name the most prosperous section that the sun shines on, I would unhesitatingly point to a section composed of about twenty counties in south Georgia. I was in this section a short while ago and spoke in a new court house to large audiences, and on each occasion I could almost read on the countenance of the people these words, 'Peace and prosperity.'"

Buena Vista Patriot: Judging from Mr. Guerry's utterances during the campaign, he is more of a prohibitionist than he is a democrat. If this paper is anything at all politically it is democratic, and such sumptuary laws as state prohibition are not democratic. The record of states having prohibition and local option show that the latter is doing more toward prohibition than the former can do for itself. Besides local option is democratic.

LaGrange Reporter: Mr. Terrell's record is enough to commend him to the people of Georgia. His life, both public and private, has been pure and clean, and Sam Jones, Broughton and others who assail his character and accuse him as being led by the liquor ring are simply using these arguments without foundation against as pure a man as ever ran for governor. Mr. Terrell, however, is steadily gaining the confidence of the people of Georgia, notwithstanding the mud-slinging these preacher-politicians are indulging in.

Trion Factory Herald: If you were looking for a man who would make an unprejudiced governor for every county in the state, every industry and interest in the state, for every man in the state, a man who will meet the field hand and the city banker, the cotton mill operative and the railroad magnate on the same ground and try to deal out honest equity to all, would you not sooner risk Joe Terrell than any one else in the race? Terrell is tried and true, has proven himself to be unswerving, well balanced, able, eligible and honest, faithful to every trust and true to his own manhood. This is conceded to him by even his opponents. What more do you want?

McDonough Progress: We see that Warner Hill has published a letter of Hon. Dupont Guerry's in which Guerry advocated local option in 1896 as a solution of the liquor question. Is that anything against Mr. Guerry? If men never changed there would be no progress or improvement in anything. We would now be plowing with wooden plows, no railroads, no cotton gins, no steamboats, no telegraph wires, no telephones, no electricity—in fact, none of the many improvements and conveniences we now enjoy. If a man always remains a local option man there would never be any state prohibitionists. "A wise man sometimes changes but a fool never," is a trite and true old adage.

Dalton Citizen: We see every day some fellow with a grievance throwing vituperation at a so-called political ring alleged to have its tentacle wrapped around the state capitol. These little gnats are trying to sting somebody and are simply nuisances much like pigstye flies in summer time. They claim "the ring" is organized to support Joe Terrell and is one great scheme of the Southern railway to throttle the state. Now The Citizen is supporting Joe Terrell, and if there is a ring, we wish some of these fellows would name one who belongs to it. If they cannot, then they should cease to expand their clavacles and quit rushing around like bull yearlings in flytime pawing up the earth on their sore backs. The Citizen challenges them to name the members of the ring. They can't do it, but like blind rattlesnakes, they must strike at any approaching noise.

Street Paving Is Awarded.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—The city council of Jackson this afternoon awarded the $100,000 contract for street paving to the Southern Paving and Brick Manufacturing Company, of Chattanooga. The $35,000 issue of school bonds was sold to F. R. Fulton, of Chicago, for $36,600.

ADDRESS BY THE GOVERNOR

He Appears at Closing Exercises of Milledgeville College.

CHANCELLOR HILL IS HEARD

Diplomas Are Delivered to Graduates by President Chappell, Who Makes Eloquent Farewell.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—The graduating exercises of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college were held in the chapel of that institution today at 10 o'clock. The only honor conferred upon the leaders of the graduates was that of reading the essays on the occasion of the graduating exercises.

As a representative of the normal department of the college Miss Laura Coleman read an essay, "Fishers of Men." Miss Ruby Brinkley, as a representative of the collegiate department, read an essay, "The Most Practical Education." Miss Emily Knuckles, of the industrial department, an essay, "First the Blade and then the Ear."

The Governor's Address.

As an especial feature of the programme Dr. Chappell announced that his excellency, Governor A. D. Candler, would address the audience. Governor Candler spoke about fifteen minutes in a strong and complimentary speech of the college, assuring the institution of the appreciation of the authorities of state of the work and progress of the school. He referred especially to the eminently successful work of Dr. Chappell, the president of the institution, in his untiring and successful efforts to make the school a model college in its higher education branches and the thoroughly practical in its industrial branches, the reputation which it so successfully sustains in this and sister states.

The diplomas were delivered by Chancellor Walter B. Hill, of the State university. Mr. Hill, after a beautiful address to the school, insisted that the well-worn certificates of proficiency and diplomas be handed the students by the president, saying that as a last loving service to those he had so faithfully instructed he should place them in the hands of his graduates.

Dr. Chappell's Eloquence.

Dr. Chappell's baccalaureate address was a strong and beautiful one and held his audience. Too profound in sentiment and too impressive in delivery to be interrupted by applause, the address was given as an eloquent and loving farewell to his seniors in its finished and magnificent entirety. Many seconds elapsed and Dr. Chappell almost reached his seat on the stage before the audience broke the silence with a thunder of genuine applause.

Tonight at the study hall of the annex dormitory of the college took place the annual alumnae banquet. The members of the alumnae are represented by some member of every class since the organization of the college. The banquet closed the commencement exercises.

AT UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA.

Eloquent Sermon Is Preached by Rev. Archibald J. Battle.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., June 3.—(Special.)—One of the largest and most cultured audiences that ever gathered in Tuscaloosa assembled in Clark hall Sunday morning at 11 oclock to hear the baccalaureate sermon of the University of Alabama delivered by Rev. Archibald J. Battle, president of the Anniston Female College. He took as his text Psalms, cxix:9 "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to Thy word." His eloquent words were directed chiefly to the young men of the university and he gave them much sound advice, clothed in the choicest language. His sermon was concluded by the beautiful and fitting words of the first Psalm.

Colonel James T. Murphy, president of the Marion Military Institute, is a distinguished commencement visitor. He and his wife are guests of Professor and Mrs. James H. Foster.

The Misses Halls, who are charming commencement visitors, are doing some effective work for the confederate veterans' home at Mountain Creek. They are selling tickets to the lecture which will be given in Montgomery on June 14, by ex-Governor Bob Taylor, for the benefit of the soldiers' home. It is probable that a large number of tickets will be sold here.

Dr. L. O. Lawson, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached the commencement sermon before the Female college at Evergreen.

James Brown shot and killed a negro named John Durrett at Cottondale Saturday. The negro, who bore a bad reputation, was trying to resist being arrested when Mr. Brown shot him.

ACTION OF THE DEMOCRATS.

Committees in Mississippi Have Started on Reorganization.

Jackson, Miss., June 3.—(Special.)—The democratic county executive committes have commenced to reorganize in several parts of the state preparatory to the opening of the congressional campaigns, and within the present month it is expected that this work will be well under way. The Claiborne county committee meets at Port Gibson tomorrow, pursuant to a call issued by the chairman, and the Oktibbeha county committee will convene at Starkville at the same time.

The legality of the county committees to reorganize has not yet been questioned, notwithstanding the new apportionment of the state, which is thought by many to have legislated the district committees out of existence. It follows, however, that if the district committees have no authority to act, that the county committees would also come under the ban of illegality, and the question is likely to become a troublesome one before the congressional campaigns get in full swing.

TALKS ABOUT ATLANTA.

Campbell News: The Atlanta papers have not yet reported Stone mountain in a state of eruption.

Macon News: Atlanta is to have the greatest of them yet—John D. Rockefeller will visit that city soon.

Augusta Tribune: So far Atlanta has been unable to report an eruption of any of the mountains which surround her.

Dublin (Ga.) Courier-Gazette: Atlanta has a negro whose uncle was killed by the eruption of Mont Pelee. Well, a Dublin boy once read a description of the extinct crater in a geography. Atlanta cannot outshine this city.

Dublin (Ga.) Courier Gazette: Atlanta has a citizen who is crazy enough to think he can defeat Lon Livingston. The latter can remain in Washington and be absolutely sure of carrying every county in the fifth district.

Rome Tribune: Everybody to their own taste; but we prefer the American negro as an associate to the Chinaman. Still the Atlanta man, or woman, who likes to dance or dine with a Chinaman is at liberty to do so.

Summerville Free Press: Atlanta will have more mayors in June than the law allows. A convention of Georgia mayors is to be held at the state capital. A number of questions pertinent to municipal government are to be discussed, such as license, sidewalks and pavements, lights, water, etc. The convention is a move in the right direction for Georgia towns and cities.

FRIENDS OF MR. TERRELL TO DEMOCRATS OF FULTON

PROMINENT citizens of Atlanta and Fulton county, who are friends of Hon. Joseph M. Terrell, have written a signed card to the democrats of Fulton county in which they predict his election, give reasons why he should be nominated for governor of Georgia and urge all democrats to go to the polls tomorrow and by their votes and influence give Mr. Terrell their support. Their statement is as follows:

To the Democrats of Fulton County: At the primary election to be held by the democratic party on the 5th day of the present month, a candidate for the office of governor of this state will be nominated.

The undersigned beg leave to say to those of their fellow-citizens who may not have had the opportunity of knowing Mr. J. M. Terrell, who is one of the candidates to be voted for on that occasion, that they have known Mr. Terrell for years. In all his relations to the public he has been faithful and conscientious in the discharge of every duty which has devolved upon him, and in the administration of every trust which has been confided to his care. His private character is without a blemish, and is above reproach. The record of his life, and the principles for which he stands, alike speak for the conservation of the public morals, and for a fair, just and impartial administration of the laws, as well as the upbuilding and progress of the state. His election means the onward march of industrial development; it means remunerative employment to labor; it means security to all the business interests of the state, and a general guaranty of the continuance of those industrial conditions, which have contributed so largely, especially in recent years, to the unexampled prosperity of the people of the state. His patriotism is lofty enough to reach above the influence of those minor, narrow prejudices, which sometimes have operated disastrously to the people of this state, we bespeak for him your hearty support; we cordially invite you to cooperate with us in securing his nomination; and we respectfully urge upon you to go with us to the polls on the day of election and give to Mr. Terrell the benefit of your influence and support. If elected governor, as we think he surely will be, his private life and public record are a sufficient guarantee that his administration will be characterized throughout with wisdom, justice and moderation.

CITY'S REVISED CHARTER TO RETAIN BOARD CONTROL

or hold any salaried office or employment under any of the boards or on its regularly weekly monthly or yearly pay rolls, who is a near relative by blood or affinity to any member of such board, either as to commissioner or ex-officio, or to the chief or superintendent or secretary, of or in that department, unless such person is already in department when the new officer is elected or appointed.

Sec. 5. Each member of every board before entering on the duties of his office shall take and subscribe to an oath of office in writing before some authority authorized to administer it.

Sec. 6. Every superintendent or chief of department under each of said boards shall take a like oath.

Sec. 7. Any member of any of said boards who shall be absent from two consecutive meetings of such board and shall not present to the board at the following meeting a satisfactory excuse for non-attendance, shall be reported by the secretary of such board to the mayor, whose duty it shall be to remove such member from the board and make appointment in his place, unless such member shall present a good and sufficient reason for his absence from such meetings to the mayor.

Sec. 8. No member of the aldermanic board, or of the city council, shall be eligible to the office of chief or superintendent, or to any salaried office in or under any of the boards or department of the city government of Atlanta during the term for which such alderman or councilman shall have been elected or during the period of one year after the expiration of the term for which he shall have been elected as aforesaid.

Section 9 provides the method to be pursued in changing from the old system to the new. The present members of all boards to hold over until their successors are appointed, confirmed and installed.

Refer to Committees.

Your committee have not undertaken to frame a complete code of laws and rules for the government of each board, such not being, as your committee conceived, its appropriate function; leaving such provisions to be framed by the appropriate subcommittees of the respective departments; but your committee recommend that it be made a rule and order of the general committee that the provisions of the new charter as finally framed and worded be made in conformity with the foregoing, uniformly as to all the boards.

Your committee is, however, mindful of the fact that there is no subcommittee specifically charged with framing provisions for the department of electrical control, the sinking fund commission and the Grady hospital, and they recommend that such duty be assigned to some appropriate subcommittee or committees.

Your committee further recommends that, as to all of the boards and departments, all provisions of law in the charter heretofore existing, and in the ordinances of the city of Atlanta, as well as the rules and regulations of the several departments, in so far as not altered, amended, superseded or repealed by the new charter, shall continue in force in the present form until amended or repealed by the law making power, or by the mayor and general council, or by the respective boards, according to the jurisdiction, power and authority possessed by them, or conferred on said general council, or on the boards under this charter.

Your committee on board management concurs in the report made by the committee on water, police and fire departmens; and also concurs in the report of the committee on streets, sewers and sanitation relative to the board of health, except in so far as the same in either case would be amended, modified or changed by the terms of this report herein above set forth.

This committee also concurs in certain clauses recommended by the committee on water, police and fire departments, of a general nature, to be inserted in the new charter, and recommends the adoption of the same accordingly, which are hereto appended and lettered A, B, C, D, E, F respectively. Clause G of the same series, applicable to the water department, is also concurred in.

Clauses.

A—ENLARGING POWERS OF RECORDER'S COURT.

Amend that provision in the charter providing for the length or period during which the recorder may sentence offenders to confinement, or to work on the public works, by striking out "thirty days," and in lieu thereof insert "not longer than six months."

B—GENERAL CLAUSE FOR CHARTER ORDINANCES AND REGULATIONS CONTINUED IN FORCE.

All existing ordinances of the city of Atlanta, as well as the rules and regulations of the several departments, in so far as not altered, amended, superseded or repealed by this charter, shall continue in force in the present form until amended or repealed by the mayor and general council, or by the respective boards, according to the jurisdiction, power and authority conferred on said general council, or on the boards under this charter.

C—DISQUALIFICATION CLAUSE.

The mayor, mayor pro tem, or acting mayor, members of the general council and members of all boards shall be disqualified to vote or act in any contract, election or business in which, by reason of interest or relation to the person or persons concerned, or the subject matter, he or they would be disqualified under the laws of the state in like cases, to serve or act as juror.

D—REMOVAL FOR CAUSE.

The mayor or any member of the general council, and members of all executive boards, and executive officers of all the departments, and secretaries of boards are forbidden to receive any property, money or other valuable thing from any candidate or applicant for office, contractor, public utility corporation or other person or company dealing with or having business with the city; and they are forbidden to hold any employment under such person or corporation having pay or emolument attached thereto, whether the property or money so received be by way of gift or loan, or with obligation to pay back, or return same, or not; and any person offending in any of the above stated particulars shall be immediately removed from office by the mayor, with the consent of a majority of the general council, and in case of the mayor, by the judge of the superior court.

E—ESTIMATES OF SALARIES TO BE SUBMITTED.

At the beginning of each fiscal year each executive board shall send in and submit to the general council a list of salaried officers and employees, with their compensation, and if any item is found to be unreasonable or excessive the general council may diminish, but shall not increase the amount of said salaries or compensation, and the same shall be binding for the year as items under the annual apportionments, when approved by the said general council.

F—GENERAL CLAUSE ON ELIGIBILITY.

No person shall be eligible to the office of mayor, member of the general council, executive office in any city department, or to any position or employment of the city, or any of its departments, who does not reside in the city limits continuously during his or her term of employment, provided that this shall not apply to such employees of the water works, or of the other departments, as are necessarily kept at work outside the city limits. If any such officer or employee shall remove from the city after being so employed, such removal shall vacate at once said office or employment.

G—PETERS' AMENDMENT.

Amend the section relating to the water works department, under the head of executive officers, to read as follows:

"The chief executive officer of the said department shall be the superintendent, and no person shall be eligible to that position unless he has had at least five years' continued actual practice and experience in the operation of the water works in a city of not less than 30,000 inhabitants, or is a professional hydraulic, civil or mechanical engineer, holding the diploma of some college, university or technical school of high repute, authorized to confer degrees, or has had at least five years actual practice as a civil or mechanical engineer."

Report of Subcommittee.

The report of the subcommittee on city officials and city elections also contained many changes, and while it was not finally adopted yesterday afternoon, it was accepted as a very full outline of what will ultimately be put into effect. It was stated during the meeting that any member of the charter committee wishing to offer an amendment to this report could do so by sending it to Secretary Cooper before noon today. It is hoped in this way to have all the amendments ready for the consideration of the committee at the next meeting, when the matter will be disposed of finally.

Following is the report in full as submitted by the subcommittee yesterday:

To the Honorable Members of Committee on Charter Revision: We, the undersigned committee on city officials, elections, etc., beg leave to report that we recommend:

1. That the provisions of the present charter with reference to the election, qualification and term of office of the mayor remain unchanged.

2. That the provisions of the present charter with reference to the election and term of office of aldermen remain as at present, with this qualification, to-wit:

"There shal be seven aldermen for the city at large, and at all elections, except to fill vacancies, two aldermen shall be elected for three years, provided that every third year three aldermen shall be elected so that the number of seven may be preserved. No two aldermen shall serve at the same time from the same ward."

3. The provisions of the present charter as to councilmen shall remain as at present, to-wit: Each ward shall be represented by two councilmen, but in the election thereof the voters of the entire city shall participate.

The provisions of the preceding sections, to-wit, two and three are subject to this proviso:

"Aldermen and councilmen shall be eligible for reelection at the end of their respective terms."

The committee reports against the provisions of the present charter whereby aldermen and councilmen are readered ineligible for the succeeding terms.

4. That the proper committee be requested to redistrict the city into ten wards instead of seven as at present.

Primary Date Fixed.

5. That all primaries providing for the nomination of candidates for the various city positions to be filled by the regular election held on the first Wednesday in December of each year shall be held on the first Wednesday in October in each year preceding said regular election. The primaries held on days other than the one herein fixed shall be illegal, and candidates nominated therein shall not be permitted to receive votes at the regular election in December.

6. If no candidates announce in opposition to those nominated at the primary hereinprovided for up to within five days of the regular election in December, then the mayor shall be authorized and it shall be his duty to thereupon issue a proclamation declaring such unopposed candidates duly elected, and they shall thereupon receive the oath of office and be regularly inducted into the duties of the respective positions. If opposition is announced to one or more of the several candidates, then an election shall be held on the first Wednesday in December of each year to decide the contest. If no opposition is announced as above provided, then the mayor shall issue the proclamation herein set forth and no election shall be held on said first Wednesday of December.

7. The term of office of the ministerial officers, to-wit: City clerk, city comptroller, commissioner of public works, city attorney, city marshal, city engineer, tax collector, building inspector, recorder, city treasurer, city sexton, street improvement collector, city electrician, license inspector, health officer and tax assessors, shall be four years, this term to apply to such officers as are elected to succeed those now serving.

8. The primaries provided under paragraph 5 of this report shall be held in accordance with the plans herewith submitted. This plan to be changed so as to conform to a general use, as distinguished from the special purpose of the committee that framed same.

ROUSING RALLY FOR TERRELL

Eloquence and Argument from Three Able Speakers.

Johnson, Hill and Small Tell Assembled Hundreds Why Terrell Should Be Chosen Governor. Some Warm Shot at Prohibition Candidate.

Friends and supporters of Hon. J. M. Terrell gathered in large numbers in the city hall last night at the final rally of the two Terrell clubs. The gathering had been well advertised both in the newspapers and by Vittur's drum crops, and with effect, for many people had to leave the hall because they could not even find convenient standing room.

More than 500 people were gathered in the comparatively small room, and listened to eloquent and stirring addresses in advocacy of Mr. Terrell's interests from Hon. Harvey Johnson, Hon. Warner Hill and Sam W. Small.

President Walter P. Andrews, of the Young Men's Terrell Club, presided, and President Ed A. Hardin, of the Terrell club of Fulton county, and the speakers of the occasion occupied the platform. In opening the meeting Mr. Andrews spoke briefly.

"Local option today," he declared, "is accomplishing ten thousand times more than Mr. Guerry's proposed prohibition can do."

Mr. Andrews introduced Hon. Harvey Johnson, mayor pro tem., who said he was glad of the opportunity to lift up his voice in advocacy of that able, honorable and upright citizen of Meriwether county and of Georgia.

"I cannot," he said, "find a man in this state who has ever conducted a campaign with more courtesy, with more decency and with more fairness than has Joe Terrell."

"Let's make Fulton county the banner Terrell county of the state," Mr. Johnson said amid great cheers. "This county ought to give Terrell 3,000 majority on Thursday."

Warner Hill Speaks.

Hon. Warner Hill was greeted with prolonged applause as he rose to speak.

"After what I have been through during the last four months," Mr. Hill said, "I can say to you in perfect frankness and candor that Mr. Terrell will, I am confident, be nominated on Thursday by the overwhelming majority of his fellow-citizens." (Applause.)

Mr. Hill said everybody knows, and those responsible know, that the charges made against Mr. Terrell by his opponents are unfounded and untrue.

Mr. Hill referred to the fact that Mr. Terrell recently laid down his campaign to go to New Orleans to appear before the United States court of appeals in an effort to make a railroad pay taxes on stock it owns in another railroad.

"This cry that Mr. Terrell is the candidate of the railroads," Mr. Hill said, "is cheap, is demagogical, is untrue." (Applause.)

Mr. Hill said Mr. Guerry had denounced the railroads of this state from the mountains to the sea, and yet he went, Monday afternoon, to the Southern railway shops seeking the votes of the very men he has been attacking.

"Of all the monumental gall I ever heard of, it seems to me that is the greatest.

Ring Covers the Whole State.

"It is charged by this candidate," Mr. Hill said, "that Mr. Terrell is the candidate of a ring. If that is true, it is a ring as big as the state of Georgia, for every day reports are coming in from Dade to Darien that Mr. Terrell will go into the governor's chair by the overwhelming majority vote of the people."

He referred to the fact that Mr. Guerry had denounced the newspapers and said they were all against him. "And yet," said Mr. Hill, "he has had more letters, more cards and more written about him in the newspapers than all of the other candidates combined."

When Mr. Terrell could no longer stand the abuse that was being heaped upon him, Mr. Hill said, he rose up and denied every charge and denounced them as malicious and false. Then came the cry that Mr. Terrell was indulging in abuse, after Mr. Guerry had been heaping up abuse for months. "Who started this thing?" Mr. Hill asked.

Mr. Hill again read the card written by Mr. Guerry in 1896, in which he advocated local option as against prohibition.

There was much laughter over the statement in Mr. Guerry's card that local option would keep this great and important question out of politics. In 1896 he said Mr. Guerry appeared as the defender of democracy, while now he is denouncing it from the mountains to the sea. Then he did not want prohibition mixed up with populism, but now, Mr. Hill said, he seems to think they are a very good combination.

Speech of Mr. Small.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hill's speech there were loud calls for Small. Sam Small was warmly greeted as he advanced to speak, was given close attention and his remarks were received with much laughter and applause.

"Fellow-citizens," he said in opening, "has it gone? I understand it was here last night looking for a joint dispute, and hauling itself around in a satin-lined carriage behind four white horses."

Mr. Small said he had intended to take no part in this campaign. He had announced in his campaign for the legislature, he said, that he stood squarely on the local option platform.

After his Carrollton speech on local option he said it occurred to Mr. Guerry to write a card warning the people against the immaturity of Mr. Small's views on prohibition. Mr. Small said he then challenged Mr. Guerry to meet him in joint debate and the latter got around it by saying he would do so if Mr. Terrell were dragged in too. It was simply a scheme of Mr. Guerry's, he said, to realize his ambition of meeting Mr. Terrell face to face.

Mr. Small quoted from a letter he received from Mr. Guerry, in which the latter took him to task for saying he believed either Terrell or Estill would sign a prohibition bill if it were passed by the legislature. Mr. Guerry wrote that if such a statement as that were given currency and advertised it would divide the prohibitionists and would be fatal to the cause of prohibition in Georgia.

"Maybe that's the reason he's against me," suggested Mr. Small.

Why He Changed His Mind.

Mr. Small said he had changed his mind on the local option question, but he had never yet found any law which gave Dupont Guerry a monopoly of the right to change his mind, though Mr. Guerry seemed to think he had that sole right. Mr. Small said he had studied the question in many states and many countries, and when he came back to Georgia and saw the conditions here he came to the conclusion that not prohibition but local option was the best thing for the people of Georgia.

"A little crowd down at Tifton got off a bill of indictment against me as long as Guerry's platform," he said. "They simply grossly misrepresented and exaggerated what was said in order to break down a man 'whose influence don't count,' and yet the people are writing to me to come in seventeen directions at once to make speeches to them."

Mr. Small closed with a stirring and eloquent appeal to all present to go to the polls tomorrow and vote for Joe Terrell and local option.

COUNTY COMMITTEES ARE TO SELECT THE DELEGATES

But They Must Select Active Supporters of Successful Candidates in Accordance With State Committee's Rule--State Political Gossip.

THE question has been asked in many counties of the state as to what rules are to govern the selection of delegates to the state convention after the primary. In some sections of the state it appears there is some doubt on this point and telegrams have been sent asking that Chairman E. T. Brown, of the state democratic executive committee, publish a ruling on the subject.

As a matter of fact that question was settled at the meeting of the state committee on March 31, and the rules of the committee adopted and published at that time gave clear expression on the subject.

In order that the matter may be clearly understood, however, a statement from Chairman Brown was secured yesterday by a representative of The Constitution.

"Section 2 of the rules adopted by the state committee," said Chairman Brown, "covers that point, and is, I think, quite clear and specific."

The section referred to by Chairman Brown is as follows:

2. It is ordered that all the officers named shall be voted for directly by the people, and that the respective county committees shall, when they shall compile and declare the result of said vote, select from among the active supporters of the candidates receiving the highest vote, delegates to the state convention, each county through its delegates to have double the number of votes in said convention that it has representatives in the lower house of the next legislature. No delegate in said convention shall give his proxy to any but a bona fide resident of his county, and the proxy so named shall be chosen from among the supporters of the successful candidates.

"Of course, I can make no other rule with regard to the matter than that," Chairman Brown continued. "It is the duty of the county executive committee to select the delegates, and as stated this must be done from among the active supporters of the successful candidates.

"The matter is entirely in the hands of the county executive committees, but they are bound, of course, by the rules of the state committee. If they violate these rules it will be a matter for the state convention to take cognizance of. Should the county committees ignore his rule in the naming of delegates, it will be in the province of the convention to refuse to seat such delegates, should it see fit to do so."

THE state capitol presented almost a deserted appearance yesterday, and many of the officials who are now away will not return to the city until after tomorrow's primary. Governor Candler is away attending college commencements. He is expected to be here Thursday morning for a short time, but will go up to Gainesville to vote and then to Athens. He will be absent from the city practically all the week.

Judge J. S. Turner and Hon. Thomas Eason, of the prison commission, will leave today for their homes in Eatonton and McRae. General Clement A. Evans, the other member, is a resident of Atlanta. Joe Johnson, of the department of agriculture, has gone to Lee county, as has also Secretary of State Phil Cook. Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens and Assistant Commissioner R. F. Wright will remain in Atlanta on the day of the primary. Treasurer R. E. Park goes to Macon this afternoon and Adjutant General J. W. Robertson will spend the day of the primary in Marietta. Assistant Adjutant General Phil G. Byrd will go to Rome today, Librarian Welborn will spend the day in Union county, and Pension Commissioner Lindsey will be at his home in Wilkinson county. Attorney General Boykin Wright will be in Augusta tomorrow, and Secretary C. M. Hitch, of the executive department, will remain in Quitman, where he has been for several days past, until the election is over. Several other capitol officials expect to go home to vote.

JOHNSTON SPEAKS TONIGHT.

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the council chamber Dr. Mark Johnston, candidate for state school commissioner, will speak to the voters of Atlanta. Dr. Johnston will explain the platform of educational reforms and administration on which he stands, and because of which he asks the suffrages of the people. Rev. Sam Small will also speak with Dr. Johnston on the demands of the school system in the state. Mr. Small has made a close study of the school reform problem and the urgency for uniform text-books throughout the state. The public is invited to be present at this educational rally.

CONFLICT IN AUGUSTA.

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—Richmond county's executive committee is inaugurating a revolution against the ruling of the state executive committee. Or, if this be not an accurate statement, its compliance with the ruling of Chairman Brown is of a character that negatives the chairman's ruling.

The Richmond county executive committee provided for a primarny on the same day with the state primary, but in addition to adopting the form of the official ballot, prescribed that it should be printed on a peculiar style of paper, and that no ballots would be distributed until the polls open.

Now some of the state house officers have sent out official ballots, and friends of some of the state ticket have official ballots that are not printed on this peculiar paper selected by the county committee.

They want to get their ballots scratched and ready for distribution and not wait for the handing out of ballots after the polls open, as ordered by the county executive committee.

Yesterady Chairman Brown ruled on this matter that any additional restrictions on the ballot to those imposed by the state committee for the state primary would be in violation of the rules of the state committee, and the throwing out of a ballot that conformed to the requirements of the state commitee because it was not printed on a particular style of paper agreed on by the county committee, or had been distributed in advance of the opening of the polls, might endanger the vote of the county in the state convention.

The county executive committee met today to consider Chairman Brown's ruling and resolved:

"That any ballot which is in the form prescribed by the state committee shall be received and counted for state officials, but no ballot will be counted for county officers, senator or legislators except the official ballot furnished by the county executive committee."

A meeting of the county executive committee will be held tomorrow morning before which friends of the state committee will go and try to effect an amicable adjustment—probably the adoption of the ticket printed by the county committee.

JACKSON, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—Colonel Buford Davis, of Macon, spoke here today to a large crowd in the interest of Dupont Guerry. He made a clear cut speech advocating strongly his platform.

Colonel Marcus W. Beck, of Griffin, was expected to speak at the same time in the interest of Mr. Terrell, but was not present. It is by no means certain which way this county will go.

Prefers To Hear from Merritt.

Editor Constitution—In regard to the communication of James T. White in The Journal of yesterday afternoon touching the report that one of the big book companies in the state is backing Mr. Merritt in his race for state school commissioner, if the report is not true, I suppose Mr. Merritt could and would deny it whether he is in a distant or near part of the state, and I would, and I presume the public would, rather hear from Mr. Merritt than Mr. White. Is Mr. Merritt receiving any aid, assistance or support from any of the book companies or its agents, financial or otherwise, in his campaign? That is the question on which the public would like to hear from Mr. Merritt and not James T. White.

My informant is a gentleman well known in Atlanta and is worthy of the fullest credit and his name can and will be given if it should become necessary.

MARK JOHNSTON.

(Communicated.)

Johnston Only Candidate in Favor of State Uniformity.

Editor Constitution—All desiring a uniform system of text-books will vote for Johnston for state school commissioner. Mr. Merritt is backed by one of the book trusts, Mr. Glenn by the other. Dr. Johnston is with the people and cannot be bought, as was proven in Atlanta on Saturday last. Dr. Johnston also favors a division of the school fund between the races and has proven that half a million dollars annually can be saved to the credit of the fund to the credit of the white man. The negroes going to school all over Georgia in the country districts and the white children are in the field at work to help pay the taxes in order that the negroes may continue at school. Will you suffer this longer? A vote for Johnston means a vote for yourself and your children.

O. T. WHITE.

Jones County, Georgia, June 1, 1902.

(Communicated.)

Johnston Stands Alone for State Uniformity.

Editor Constitution—Dr. Johnston is the only candidate who stands for state uniformity in text-books or for any change whatever in the present management of the school fund. A vote for Mr. Glenn means a vote for one book trust; a vote for Mr. Merritt is a vote for the other book trust. Dr. Johnston is with the people and the people are his only backers. That he cannot be bought by the book trusts who are supporting Mr. Merritt and Mr. Glenn was proven Saturday in Atlanta. If Dr. Johnston is defeated no other man in Georgia will ever again try to defeat the book concerns who are trying to run the state school commissioner's office and, in fact, are about running the state. It costs too much money to fight the book trusts in a state campaign and we believe it will be a long time before another man in Georgia can be found who will make the race against these trusts with no help except his own pocketbook. This Johnston has done, and if you vote against him you vote against yourself and your children's best interests. Johnston has shown that half a million dollars can be saved to the credit of the school fund by a division of the fund between the races according to the tax paid by each race. The whites pay 93 per cent of the taxes, the negroes pay 7 per cent. The negroes are going to school all over Georgia, the white children are in the fields at work in order that the negroes may continue at school. Remember $1,500,000 to the people who buy school books and $300,000 to the fund will be saved; the former by state uniformity in text-books, the latter by a division of the school fund between the races, and this Johnston will do if elected.

NEW DOCUMENT CONSIDERED.

Convention Refers Constitution to Committee on Enrollment.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—The constitutional convention at its session today completed consideration of the new constitution and referred the document to the committee on enrollment to be engrossed.

It also adopted the preamble as reported by the committee on bill of rights, and adopted thereto an amendment recognizing Almighty God and making acknowledgment of His bountiful mercy to all the people. No material amendment other than this was made.

EITHER WAY HURTS.

A Cross Fire on Coffee Users.

The breaking away from coffee is an exceedingly serious problem to many people, especially when headaches follow leaving off the drug, and dyspepsia and bowel trouble grows more and more serious if the coffee is continued. So there you are between two fires.

A comparatively easy way out was taken by a lady from Franklin, Pa., who says: "We had a curious experience with coffee. Husband had been, for many years, a sufferer from dyspepsia, with heartburn, headaches and general nervous trouble. We tried a great many physicians and a great many remedies, but none of them did him any lasting good.

"We concluded there must be something about his employment that thus affected him. One day a man told him that probably coffee was the cause of his trouble and advised him to use Postum. The first time I made it I studied directions and made it good. Well, that day was a day long to be remembered.

"We liked the Postum, but we had a hundred headaches compressed into one. You see, the trouble was we had both used coffee so long that our nerves were in a state of collapse without the usual stimulant. Until then I did not dream I was such a slave to coffee, but we had to do something to quit, so the next morning I used Postum with part coffee and we missed the headaches; then I used less coffee every morning for about two weeks, and then Postum alone for nearly a year now, and I just wish you could see the change in my husband. He has better health than he ever had before, never has the headache, can eat anything he wants, does not have heartburn or any stomach trouble, and he cannot be induced to drink coffee under any circumstances.

"When anybody mentions dyspepsia in his presence he tells them what cured him.

"I was almost as bad as he, but am now entirely well, and have gone up from 98 pounds to 108 pounds and am so thankful for the blessing of good health.

"If my name will do any good, use it, for we stand by Postum always." Mrs. W. A. Bowers, 29 Ninth street, Franklin, Pa.

SALINSKY MADE WOMEN TREMBLE

"Wild Man" Caught and Sentenced to Chaingang.

Recorder Broyles Declared That Salinsky Was Possessed of the Devil—Many Friends Say That His Mind Is Unbalanced.

The white man who had been terrorizing ladies and children for several weeks in the vicinity of Linden and Piedmont avenues was at last caught yesterday morning by Call Officers Covington and Chandler.

Morris Salinsky, the man under arrest, is a shoemaker, with a small shop on Decatur street. He has a large family, consisting of a wife and several children. About a year ago he was arrested for a similar offense, citizens in the second ward making the complaint. The case at that time attracted considerable attention. He was fined $100, but afterwards the amount was reduced to $25.

Recorder Broyles no sooner saw Salinsky than he recognized him as the man who had frightened women and children twelve months ago on Washington and Pulliam streets.

The proof against the prisoner was complete, and he was sent to the chaingang for thirty days, the privilege of paying a fine not being given him.

The man's friends claim that he is a lunatic, and steps will be taken at once to get him tried for lunacy.

Made Himself a Terror.

It was about three weeks ago that citizens residing in the sixth and fourth wards made complaint that there was a white man loafing about the streets frightening little children and insulting women. The police made repeated attempts to catch the man, but failed, as he had a way of appearing and disappearing so suddenly that no one could keep track of him.

The complaints became so frequent that special officers were detailed in citizen's clothes to spot the fellow, but he managed to elude them also.

Yesterday morning a telephone message was received at police barracks stating that the "wild man," as he was called, had just been seen near the corner of Linden and Piedmont avenues, and that he was at his old tricks. Call Officers Covington and Chandler made as fast a run as they could to the scene on their bicycles, and were in time to catch the man pointed out to them.

Was at His Old Trick.

Morris Salinsky, the man arrested, had just come out of a lot where there was a vacant house. He had been hiding behind the fence for the purpose of scaring children and women in the neighborhood. He stayed for once just a little too long, and before he could get away, as had been his custom before, he was caught.

When Salinsky was called before the recorder yesterday afternoon, a tall, sallow-face man, with jet black hair and a black moustache, came from the waiting room. He was stoop-shouldered, and there was a hang-dog expression about his face. As he walked forward, a stout, middle-aged woman, with a babe in her arms and four or five children at her side, came from the audience to meet him.

Salinsky was asked what he wished to say, and he mumbled a few words about being out looking for work.

Ought To Be Cowhided.

"Your friends say you are crazy," the recorder told him, "but you have more sense than to act in any such way. It is just the devil in you. You were here a year ago for a similar offense, and I let you off because of your wife and children. This time I will give you the severest penalty the law allows, and will send you to the city chaingang for thirty days. If somebody would just give you a cowhiding I think you would be taught a lesson that you would not forget."

Salinsky's wife wept hysterically and begged the recorder, for the sake of her little children, to be lighter on her husband.

"No, I cannot," the recorder replied. "There are other women and children in this city whom I must protect. I am sorry for your children, but I must give this man the severest sentence I can."

Salinsky's friends, who claim that he is crazy, gave notice that they would take steps to have him declared a lunatic and sent to the insane asylum.

CRIMINAL COURT ALL RIGHT.

Supreme Court Holds That It Is Not an Unconstitutional Court.

The supreme court held yesterday in a decision rendered in the case of Welborne v. Donaldson, superintendent, that the criminal court of Atlanta is not an unconstitutional court.

In the trial of the case stated Alexander W. Stephens, counsel for the defendant, entered a plea of lack of jurisdiction of the criminal court of Atlanta on the ground that it was unconstitutional. In the criminal court the judgment was adverse to this plea, and the supreme court sustained the lower court in its decision yesterday.

Some time ago the question of the constitutionality of the city court of Atlanta was raised in the supreme court, the point at issue being whether the right of appeal lay from the city court and from the criminal court to the supreme court. The validity of the city court was sustained, but it was held that the criminal court did not have such right of appeal, the principal reason being that it had only five jurors in the trial of causes. The court holds, however, that this does not mean that the criminal court is unconstitutional, and in its decision yesterday it declared that the act of 1891 creating the criminal court is constitutional and valid. Under the former decision, however, all appeals from the criminal court must be by certiorari to the superior court.

SMALL SUM FOR LIBRARY

Net Proceeds from Mr. Wu's Lecture Amounts to $60.

USED TO REPAIR BUILDING

Library Trustees Express Regret at Action of Council in Refusing $2,000 Appropriation.

A lengthy meeting of the Carnegie library trustees occurred yesterday afternoon, in which many matters pertaining to the maintenance of the library were discussed.

A report was made by the committee in charge of the lecture given by Wu Tingfang, the Chinese minister. The total net proceeds was less than $60, and it was immediately appropriated for repairs on the building, two items of which were damages caused by rats.

President Cabaniss made a short talk in which he said it was clearly in evidence that the people of Atlanta enjoyed bicycle races much more than they did lectures. One thing that reduced the net proceeds was that nearly $300 was paid the summer opera company to secure the Grand from it one night.

Miles and Bradt made demand for the amount of money due them on the building. They will hear from a committee composed of Chairman Nutting, of the building committee; Messrs. Meyer, Alston, Mitchell and the city attorney, J. W. Mayson.

President Cabaniss notified the board that the city council had refused the $2,000 additional appropriation for the maintenance of the library, and regret was expressed by the members of the board. Several expressed the belief that if the members of council would spend a day at the library noting the work that a change of heart would be experienced.

It was also decided that as long as the Young Men's Library elected a part of the board of trustees any member in good standing at the time of the transfer could secure books.

The New Cafe, 11 E. Alabama St., is the talk of the town.

MAYOR HANDS MILES A ROAST

Splendid Eulogy of Jefferson Davis from Livingston Mims.

REBEL YELL SOUNDED IN LEGISLATIVE HALL

Crosses of Honor Were Distributed to Many Confederate Veterans. An Interesting Musical Programme Was Given.

The anniversary of Jefferson Davis' birthday was appropriately celebrated in the house of representatives yesterday under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Confederate Veterans. The programme, the feature which was the address by Mayor Livingston Mims on "The Life and Work of Jefferson Davis," was a splendid one and was greatly enjoyed by the large gathering which filled the hall.

Conspicuous in the audience were a number of battle-scarred veterans who took the deepest interest in the exercises. The rebel yell resounded through the hall frequently during the course of Mayor Mims' splendid address, and when he touched on the treatment of the confederacy's hero by General Nelson A. Miles the applause was deafening.

After the delivery of Mayor Mims' address crosses of honor were distributed to a number of veterans by Mrs. Helen Plane.

Music of a patriotic nature made the programme a most enjoyable one. Among the numbers most enjoyed were the "Bugle Song," by Mrs. W. S. Yeates; the Chopin "Funeral March" by a collection of voices; "Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds," by the chorus; "The Old Time Confederate," by the Veterans' chorus.

The exercises began shortly before 4 o'clock and were concluded at 6:30 o'clock.

Mayor Mims' Address.

Mayor Mims, the principal speaker of the occasion, was introduced in an eloquent manner by Colonel A. J. West.

Mayor Mims traced in words of tenderness the life work of Jefferson Davis. He described the man, the soldier and the statesman in phrases freighted with feeling and words laden with love. He described Jefferson Davis as the greatest man since the immortal Calhoun and said that when that intelectual giant had died his mantle had fallen on the noble shoulders of the confederacy's beloved leader. His course in the United States senate was defended and the speaker denied that Mr. Davis had influenced his state to withdraw from the union.

Touching on the feeling which all confederates feel for Mr. Davis, he said:

Devoted as were the soldiers of Napoleon, the soldiers of Grant and Sherman, indeed in all the instances of ancient and modern history there is no counterpart of the dvotion of old confederates to Mr. Davis. There is peculiar pathos in their expressions of love and admiration for him. There was ever magnetic eloquence in his utterances to them, his very presence wrought upon them as none other could do. Dignified and even ceremonious as he was, no one ventured to take the liberties that were common with most public men, but he always impressed by his gentle and becoming dignity and thrilled his audiences as his clarion voice resounded over space and moved them by his fervid and passionate eloquence as they rose to their feet tossed their hats in the air, waved their handkerchiefs, and shouted "Hurrah for Jeff Davis." Whether on the hustings or in deliberate assembly Mr. Davis always pronounced classic orations. I have heard him on so many occasions and he was always effective, magnetic and convincing in speech.

Miles Was Merciless.

In commenting on the treatment Davis received at Fortress Monroe, Mayor Mims said:

The fortunes of war have furnished many instances of refined and high-bred courtesy where successful and commanding generals illustrate true greatness and kindness of heart in their conduct toward defeated leaders of opposing armies. How beautifully was it illustrated in the conduct of General Grant toward General Lee, of Sherman to Johnston—however, General Johnston always declared he never surrendered, but gave up the further prosecution of the contest—and even the great Caesar was merciful.

But perhaps the one more deficient in all these great qualities that distinguished those I have named was that of the commanding officer of the fortress to which Mr. Davis was consigned.

We look almost in vain for a parallel to the cruelties inflicted by him upon Mr. Davis during his imprisonment. The treatment of Napoleon at St. Helena by the British government was mild and decent compared to that of Mr. Davis by General Miles. I say of General Miles only, for it was his own inspiration rather than the order of the government, though at the worst or best, a foul blot on the escutcheon of this country.

With reference to Roosevelt's condemnation of Mr. Davis he said the following:

I pause for a moment simply to refute the reference made by President Roosevelt to Mr. Davis in a book written by him sometime anterior to the sad accidency of his presidency. He calls him traiter like unto Benedict Arnold. In doing this he asserts that which truth and history indignantly deny. As well declare Robert E. Lee, and our brave generals, indeed our brave army of the confederacy, traitors for contending for a great constitutional principle. And it is interesting in this connection to note the wise avoidance of the issue on the part of the government in the trial of Mr. Davis; an issue himself and his able attorneys were always anxious to meet.

Another very unbecoming, and as it happens, a false charge, evidently for the purpose only of casting a stigma on Mr. Davis' personality, was that Mr. Davis favored so-called Mississippi repudiation. For the truth of history let it be remembered that Mississippi has for reasons satisfactory to herself always declined the payment of the union, and Planters' bank bonds; and her credit in all the markets of the world has never been impaired thereby. The question of their payment was submitted to a vote of the people and overwhelmingly refused, though it is a fact that Mr. Davis was always understood as of the small minority favoring their payment.

The president is young—he may live long enough to appreciate Job's lament, "Oh, that mine enemy would write a book." Perhaps but for his accidental prominence these references might never have caught our eyes, or of the public, or have received any notice.

As it is, though, now by accident the president of this great republic, he is powerless to effect the exalted reputation of Mr. Davis, whose name will live in history, not only as the hero of a lost cause, but as soldier, patriot and statesman, and yet long after the president and his book shall have been forgotten.

PRETTY DOUBLE WEDDING HAS TINGE OF ROMANCE

A DOUBLE WEDDING, tinged with romance, was solemnized last night at the Moore Memorial manse, on Luckie street, two well-known members of the fire department and two popular young ladies figuring as principals.

The contracting parties were Stacy Davis, of No. 3 company, and Miss Ida Minton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Minton, of 75 Bradley avenue; John N. Parker, of No. 3 company, and Miss Anie Mae Heller, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Heller, of 22 Hayden street. Dr. A. R. Holderby, pastor of Moore Memorial church, officiated.

The fact of the wedding was known only to the immediate families and a few intimate friends, and the news will prove a great surprise to the many friends and acquaintances of the young people.

There is a pretty little story behind the double wedding, which renders it interesting. The grooms are veterans of the Philippine war, both having enlisted at Fort McPherson and served together in the far-away islands as members of the hospital corps. After having served many months in the Philippines, they doffed their uniforms of blue and returned to Atlanta.

On returning home, the young veterans claimed their lady loves and a marriage was planned. Having gone through the experiences and trials of the Philippine campaign, the lovers were bound together by strong bonds of friendship, and as they were both following the same line of duty, they decided to enter into the bliss of wedlock at the same time and place. This was agreed to all round, and the double launching last night into the sea of matrimony followed.

Miss Minton and Miss Heller are both pretty and charming, and combined with these traits are other graces, which have rendered them popular, and attracted hosts of admirers.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home at 199 Davis street, while Mr. and Mrs. Parker will reside at 218 Georgia avenue. Both couples have the best wishes of a host of friends.

NEW CAMP HOLDS MEETING.

Resolutions of Tribute to Jefferson Davis Adopted by Camp Tige Anderson.

Camp Tige Anderson, the recently organized camp of Confederate Veterans, met last night in regular session in Judge Landrum's court room.

A letter was received from Mrs. Anderson, wife of the general, in which she expressed her gratitude to the veterans for honoring the name of her husband by giving it to the camp. Mrs. Anderson, her son and daughter were afterwards elected honorary members.

The formal organization of the camp was perfected by the adoption of a constitution and by-laws. The names of several new members were also enrolled.

Short Session of Court.

Seven cases were disposed of yesterday before Judge A. E. Calhoun in the city court.

An adjournment was taken about 11:30 o'clock, as all of the cases set for trial during the day had been disposed of. These were all jail cases. It is probable that the trial of bond cases will begin today.

THEATRES

The announcement that the Bijou Musical Comedy Company would not play at the Grand on Thursday and Friday nights on account of the graduation exercises of the high schools, seems to have impressed the theatergoers of the city that there is no time to be lost if they wish to see this week's presentation of "A Contented Woman," one of the most brilliant of all the Hoyt plays, for Tuesday night's audience was almost as large as that of Monday evening, and the advance sale for the remainder of the week gives indication of tremendous audiences to follow.

The lines of "A Contented Woman" are as keen as the point of a rapier—more cutting, more piercing than the dialogue of any of the other Hoyt plays. The play is a satire on woman in politics, where she is glorified in her home and made fun of in the field of politics. Miss Agnes Rose Lane, who plays the part of Grace Holmes, the heroine, improved on Tuesday even over her admirable performance of the opening night, while the whole play went with considerably more animation and vigor.

Chip's characterization of the part of Samuel Kornblum, the saloon keeper, is little short of wonderful, especially as to make-up. John Dunne, Otis Harlan, Tony Hart and several of the other prominent members of the company have parts that give them very good opportunity. The stage settings, especially those of the second and third acts, are unusually good.

DRUGGISTS report more calls for RUTER-BA than any other medicine.

EXERCISES TO END TODAY.

Trustees of Morris Brown College Held Meeting Yesterday—Bishop Turner Presided.

The commencement exercises at Morris Brown college will conclude today. The alumni association will meet tomorrow evening. The feature yesterday was the meeting of the trustees of the college. The session was presided over by Bishop H. M. Turner. Representative negroes from all parts of the state, and some from adjoining states, are in the city attending the college commencement.

At Big Bethel church last evening the exercises were continued. The annual commencement address was delivered by Rev. Silas X. Floyd, of Augusta. The church was crowded. The speaker of the evening discussed the subject, "The Supreme End of Man."

The board of trustees met at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and there were fully 100 members present. Bishop Turner, after calling the meeting to order, made a short address, in which he called attention of the trustees to the work to be accomplished in the future. He said Morris Brown college was taking its place among the great institutions of the country for the higher education of the negro, and declared the institution was in better condition than it ever had been "despite the fact that some one made an effort to disgrace the school some time ago."

During the afternoon session Rev. R. D. Stinson, of Atlanta, financial agent and collector for the college, submitted his annual report. It showed that during the past five months $1,076 had been collected for the use of the school.

MRS. PLATT SUES FOR $5,000

Says A. S. Jenkins Circulated False Reports About Her Establishment.

ALLEGES HE CALLED POLICE

Declares Statement That She Exposed Undressed Customers to Public Gaze Is False.

Alleging that he has circulated false and scandalous reports about her establishment, Mrs. Ada Platt, a dressmaker of 423 Auburn avenue, yesterday instituted suit for $5,000 damages against A. S. Jenkins.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Platt and Mr. Jenkins appeared in the recorder's court a few days ago in regard to this same matter. After hearing the evidence, Recorder Broyles dismissed the cases.

Mrs. Platt charges that the defendant has informed the police that she fit her customers in front of a window in full and open view of the street and displayed them to public view undressed and nude; also that the police on several occasions watched her house. She declares that these statements are false; were known to Jenkins to be false, and were uttered with the sole purpose of injuring her and bringing her good name into disrepute.

It is stated that several times during April and May the defendant telephoned to police headquarters and had policemen to come to the scene. Mrs. Platt alleges that at one time, an officer told her of Jenkins' statements and that as a result she was greatly humiliated. She states that his conduct in having the police shadow her home became common talk of the community and greatly and unjustly humiliated her.

Mrs. Platt further alleges that several times she asked Jenkins to refrain from making such statements and that he treated her in an indecent manner, charging that her customers appeared in public view undressed and that she entertained customers of bad character. Attorney Edgar Latham filed the suit.

Wallace Sues for $20,000.

Robert R. Wallace yesterday brought suit against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, as lessee of the Georgia railroad, for $20,000 damages.

Wallace sues for personal injuries, alleged to have been received on May 3. The petition states that he was in the employ of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company in the capacity of car inspector at the time.

It is alleged that on the night of May 3 Wallace was standing near the Piedmont avenue culvert, when he was struck by the rear end of a coach, several of which were being backed by a yard engine of the defendant. It is stated that his right arm was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary; also that he was otherwise injured.

Negligence is charged to the defendant. It is stated that the coaches were dark; that there was no flagman or brakeman on the rear coach, and that no warning was given. The suit was filed by Attorney C. T. Ladson.

Four Suits Against Railroad.

Four suits, aggregating $15,000, were yesterday instituted against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company.

Nicodemus Holmes sues for $5,000 for injuries claimed to have been received at the corner of Forsyth and Hunter streets, on May 26. He alleges that he started to alight from a car at that point, but that before he could do so the car was suddenly started and he was thrown. Attorney P. F. Smith filed the suit.

M. B. Lyle brought suit for $5,000 also. He claims to have been injured, owing to the bad condition of a portion of the track on East Fair street. The petition states that he was driving a furniture wagon along the street and that a number of water pipes had been placed next to the sidewalk, he was compelled to drive on the track. It is alleged that a piece of track caught the wagon, causing it to suddenly stop, throwing the plaintiff to the pavement. Attorney R. J. Jordan filed the suit.

Brack Glover instituted suit for $3,000 alleging to have been injured by being struck by a car on Alabama street, between Pryor and Whitehall streets. It is stated that two cars had just passed each other and that Glover did not see the one that struck him. He claims that no warning was given of its approach. The suit was filed by Attorney P. F. Smith.

Ben Perdue also claims personal injuries and entered suit for $2,000. The petition alleges that he was in the act of alighting from an East Point car at Fort McPherson, when it was started forward suddenly, precipitating him to the pavement and badly injuring him. Perdue is represented by Attorney R. J. Jordan.

Wilkinson Presided in DeKalb.

Ordinary John R. Wilkinson yesterday morning held court for Ordinary W. M. Ragsdale in Decatur, acting in a matter in which the DeKalb county ordinary was disqualified.

The case was the probating of the will of the late Mrs. Elizabeth J. Veal. Ordinary Ragsdale is a son in law of Mrs. Veal and is named as executor in the will. For this reason he was disqualified to probate it.

HIGH CONDITION OF GROWING COTTON

Caused Heavy Selling for Both Accounts and Sharp Decline.

CLOSED 8 TO 21 POINTS OFF

With the Exception of Provisions the Chicago Markets Closed Lower. Undertone in Stocks Firm, but Dullest Session in Two Years.

New York, June 3.—The cotton market opened weak and down 5 to 15 points under a scramble of smaller holders to unload and a wave of bear pressure which carried everything before it. Thorough belief in a fine monthly crop statement from Washington urged on the shorts, while the bulls were frightened by the severe losses already accrued and by the sheer absence of public supporting orders. Following the call there was a brief pause in the downward rush, but as few shorts cared to take profits and as the bull leaders made no move to right the market prices once more started downward and did not stop until July had reached 8.66 and August 8.39. Around these figures smaller bears turned for cover and scalpers purchased summer months for a rally. The Liverpool cables, however, reflected extreme weakness at that point, prices being down 6 to 10½ points, while the private crop reports and the government daily weather chart indicated generally prime conditions over the entire belt. The disturbing reports from the coal strike regions and rumors that southern spot markets were weakening under large offers combined to check extensive new buying. Promptly at 12 noon the bureau announced the crop condition as an average to be 95.1, as against 81.5 same time last year, and gave a decrease in acreage of only 3-10 of 1 per cent. Immediate selling for both accounts ensued and July dropped to 8.59, while August sold at 8.34. From this the ruling the market later steadied on a less bearish weekly crop and weather report from Washington than looked for. Prices advanced 10 points, but later eased off again in the absence of substantial bull support. During the balance of the session trading was less active and fluctuations followed more conservative lines. The market closed quiet and steady, with prices net 8 to 21 points lower. Total sales were estimated at 350,000 bales, well distributed through the list.

Review of New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, June 3.—Spot cotton is in good demand at unchanged prices. Sales 2,800 bales, including 500 to arrive. Quotations unchanged.

Futures showed first call losses of 14 to 15 points on the summer months and 7 to 8 points on the new crop. After the opening there was considerable backing ad filling over a range of 4 to 7 points. The bureau report had been discounted and its reading today had no perceptible effect on the market. The closing figures showed net losses of 10 points on August, 7 on September and 5 to 6 points on all other positions compared with last evening's closing prices.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 3.—The dry goods market continues quiet in all departments at first hands. Staple cottons in brown, bleached and coarse colored lines are without quotable change, but some cutting in bleached cottons by jobbers. Prints and ginghams are unchanged. Print cloths dull at previous prices. No demand of any account for export.

Acreage and Condition of Cotton.

Washington, June 3.—The statistician of the department of agriculture estimates the total area planted in cotton at about 3-10 of 1 per cent less than the acreage planted last year. On the basis of the acreage figures published on May 31 of last year this would give an acreage for the year 1902-03 of about 27,450,000. From the recently published census report for 1899, however, it is apparent that for some time past the acreage planted in cotton in the Carolinas, Arkansas and Tennessee has been somewhat overestimated and that in Texas and other states more or less underestimated, with the result that for the cotton belt as a whole there has been an underestimation of acreage and an overestimation of yield per acre. Adjustments have been made to bring the department's estimates into reasonable conformity with the report of the census, the net result being an addition of about 418,000 acres to the estimate of area planted last year. This addition raises the estimate of the area planted for 1902-03 to about 27,878,000 acres, or 72,000 acres less than the revised area for last year. There is a reported decrease in acreage amounting to 9 per cent in North Carolina, 4.6 per cent in South Carolina, 4 per cent in Georgia, 3 per cent in Alabama, 4-10 of 1 per cent in Mississippi and 3-0 of 1 per cent in Arkansas. On the other hand, there is an increase of 3 per cent in Louisiana and Florida, 2.5 per cent in Texas, 8 per cent in Missouri, 15 per cent in Oklahoma, 24 per cent in Indian territory and 5-10 of 1 per cent in Tennessee.

The average condition of the growing crop on May 26 was 95.1, as compared with 81.5 on May of last year, 82.5 on June 1 1900, 85.7 on June 1, 1899, and a ten-year average of 86. Only twice within a period of twenty-one years, namely, in 1887 and 1896, has the average condition on June 1 been as high as the condition now reported. In the former year it was 96.9 and in the latter 97.2. The condition by states is as follows:

North Carolina, 91; South Carolina, 97; Georgia, 94; Florida, 100; Alabama, 92; Mississippi, 94; Louisiana, 96; Texas, 95; Arkansas, 100; Tennessee, 100; Oklahoma, 96; Indian territory, 99.

H. & B. Beer's Cotton Letter.

New Orleans, June 3.—Liverpool was unfavorably influenced by the expectation of the bearish bureau report today and our market in sympathy opened 14 to 15 points lower on summer positions and 7 to 8 points on new. Shortly after fresh buying occasioned an improvement of 4 to 8 points on near months and 1 to 3 on late, but upon the issuance of the bureau report it was construed as being more bearish than looked for and caused a decline of 5 to 8 points. About this time, however, shorts covering occasioned a reaction of 5 to 10 points from the bottom. When the demand was supplied, though, values again eased off, becoming steadier near the close on some new buying, making the net loss 6 to 10 on old crop options and 5 to 7 on new. The bureau makes the acreage 27,878,000, or 72,000 acres less than the revised area of last year, which is only 3-10 of 1 per cent less. The general average condition is 95.1 per cent against 81.5 last year, 83.5 in 1897 and 89 in 1898. Speaking of the condition the statistician says: "Only twice within a period of twenty-one years, namely, in 1887 and 1896, has the average condition on June 1 been so high as the condition now reported. In the former year it was 96.9 and in the latter it was 97.2." In 1897 the acreage was 24,267,000 and in 1898 it was 22,460,000. The condition on June 1 in the former year was 83.5 per cent and in the latter 89. The growth of the crop in 1897 was 11,485,000 bales and in 1898 it was 11,420,000. This year the acreage is 27,828,000 and the condition on June 1 is 95.1. In other words, the acreage this year is 3,611,000 in excess of 1897, and 5,418,000 over that of 1898; and the condition this year is 11.6 points more than in 1897 and 6.1 points over 1898. These figures are given comparing the record crops and demonstrate that there never has been a good condition before, considering the large acreage in cotton this year. Of course future weather conditions will have everything to do with the final outturn, but the start is certainly very favorable.

O'Dell & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Chicago, June 3.—Operations in the grain pits today were decidedly mixed and with professional element in control it was rather difficult to follow the course of values. There was some strength in the early session, but this was lost subsequently under bear pressure, and near the close there was a bearish tenor to sentiment in the pits. Wheat started with a relatively firm tone, though somewhat lower, and under good support the market readily advanced a stout fraction when several local interests dropped a few lines and with the outside demand slow the market had no alternative but to decline, and this it did, becoming soft on the way down. The late market simply drifted, the bulls being indisposed to take on much of the weakness shown recently and the bears being inclined to hold off on the argument that the decline has gone about far enough and that a reaction is now in order.

Corn opened weak and lower. The trade was fair, buyers holding off in consequence of predictions for a continued liberal movement. The late market moved more in sympathy with wheat than for any special influence of direct bearing in the corn pit.

Oats were dull and uninteresting all day.

Provisions—After opening earlier on rather free offerings of pork met good support on a firm hog market and the whole list made a good advance.

Available Supply Changes.

New York, June 3.—Special cable and telegraph communications received by Bradstreet's show the following changes in available supplies since last report:

Wheat—United States and Canada, east of the Rocky mountains, decreased 4,317,000; afloat for and in Europe decrease 1,100,000. Total supply decrease 5,417,000 bushels.

Corn—United States and Canada, east of the Rockies, decrease 2,000,000 bushels.

Oats—United States and Canada, east of the Rockies, increase 851,000.

The Liverpool Grain Market.

Liverpool, June 3.—Wheat, spot dull; No. 1 northern spring 6s 1d; futures quiet; July 5s 10¼d; September 6s ¾d.

Corn, spot quiet; American mixed new 5s 9d; do. old 5s 9d; futures dull: July nominal; September 5s 1¼d; October 5s 1¼d.

THE DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York, June 3.—It would be useless to seek for anything but a negative influence from the operations in today's stock market owing to the smallness of the dealings and the languid movement of prices. Variations of as much as a point are rare and must be sought amongst the obscure portions of the list. An example of the character of the market is offered by St. Paul, usually an active leader of the market, but in which there were only three transactions up to 2 o'clock today. It is necessary to go back nearly two years, to the period preceding the last presidential election, to find any such showing of stagnant speculative interest. The undertone was rather firm as the immediate news developments were favorable to values. The buying was entirely by small professional traders and the market was so narrow that they were obliged to concede all of the advance in price caused by their bidding in order to close out a contract. The traders bought during the first hour in the belief that the success of the anthracite operators in keeping their mine pumps going in spite of the strike would presage an advance in the value of anthracite stocks. Importance was also attributed to the notable increase in the receipts of corn and the resultant decline in the corn market. The immediate benefit of increased traffic for the railroads of the larger receipts was considered of much less consequence than the obvious inference that the freer offerings of corn were due to belief of planters that the coming crop would be abundant. The higher rate for money was probably the most influential factor in repressing speculation. Rates for money on call ruled about last week's maximum throughout. The syndicate operations last week, which resulted in the $15,000,000 loan expansion by the banks, are liable to be repeated in kind at almost any time and the effect on the money market in the present narrow state of the surplus reserve is an object lesson against free speculative commitments. The question is beginning to be canvassed whether the tax reduction bill, which goes into effect on July 1, will afford the expected relief to the money market by reducing the government's surplus revenue requirement. The fiscal operations for May show that in spite of a falling off of over $4,000,000 in internal revenue collections the government's surplus for the month was fully equal to that of the year before. The most notable factor in maintaining the surplus of the government is the cessation of bond redemptions, which were a continuing source of relief to the money market after July 1 of last year. The policy of the new secretary of the treasury has not yet provided for relief, and his intentions in the matter are not known to the public.

There was an active demand for Consolidated Tobacco 4s. Otherwise the bond market was dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,405,000.

Commercial Advertiser's Financial Cable.

New York, June 3.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: Stock market activity was much reduced today, partly because of Epsom week. Prices reacted under a steady stream of realizations all round following peace, but the feeling is not one of despondency. It is thought that the free profit taking will leave the markets healthy and that the public will gradually edge in, particularly after the coronation ceremonies. Consols closed at 96 13-16, after selling at 96 9-16.

American stocks were almost forgotten by most dealers, and there was hardly one transaction. Not a dozen cable messages passed between the markets. Prices sagged all day, closing at the bottom, the coal strike exercising a paralyzing effect.

Copper was ⅝c down to £54¼ a ton; Rio Tintos were ⅝c down to 45⅝. Fixtures were 2½, the consol installment of £3,000,000 is due Thursday.

Gold to the amount of £5,000 has been received from Paris and £198,000 in bars has been bought.

The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes: Cash in hand decrease 27,020,000 marks; treasury notes increase 80,000; other securities increase 17,300,000; notes in circulation increase 47,180,000.

Paris, June 3.—Three per cent rentes 101 francs 75 centimes for the account. Exchange on London 25 francs 22½ centimes for checks.

O'Dell & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, June 3.—There was a quiet stock market for the most part today. Professional interests were largely in control of the list and the fluctuations generally reflected nervousness and uncertainty. The strike situation was the greatest feature of influence. All matters of news were ignored in favor of the discussion of events in the anthracite coal district and the situation on the whole rather serious with the miners inclined to predict final success. The Industrials were inclined to better prices, but at the better prices Sugar, Copper and some of the others were sold by timid longs, though on dips there was considerable quiet buying, said to be for the account of lower Wall street. The late market was devoid of feature, and the trade conditions were unchanged. Professionals continued in control of the market and price movements were without significance.

One of the most remarkable records ever made by a baseball pitcher was obtained by Weldon Henley, of the Atlantas, yesterday afternoon in the last game of the series with Memphis.

In the contest Henley allowed the heavy sluggers of the Bluff City two hits only, both of these being weak, measley scratches. But he gave eight bases on balls, to say nothing of one wild pitch, and yet defeated a team with six hits only behind him, one of which alone was greater than a single, and that one was made by Henley himself.

Few games of the kind are on record and in the history of southern baseball it is extremely doubtful if its counterpart can be found.

Barring a misplay by Breitenstein, Frank's pitcher, and one by Leighton, Atlanta's center fielder, the game was an errorless one and was one full of sharp, quick fielding in which the Memphis outfield had seven chances without an error. The Atlanta out field's chances were the same, but six of the chances only were cleanly handled, the slight mistake being made by Leighton, who is working in Leidy's place.

Atlanta's plate crossing was done in the second inning, when Henley found Breitenstein for three bags and came home on Breitenstein's wild pitch.

A single by Krug and a two-bagger by Stouch sent Winters in the same path for the second touch of the home plate.

Valdois was the only Memphian to cross the plate. This he did in the third inning. It was a base on balls for Valdois as a starter. Williams, next up, was given the same benefit. Then Lipe sacrificed, sending both a bag nearer home. Accorsini sent one to Reitz and was thrown out at first, but on the play Valdois came home.

Henley covered the infield in great shape, working himself into the assist column. When he smashed out his three-bagger there were two strikes on him and it looked very much like he was faded for that time at bat at least.

As the Game Was Played.

Memphis, Tenn., June 3.—(Special.)—Henley pitched the most remarkable game of the year today and won a brilliant victory over Memphis, at the same time adding several valuable points to Atlanta's standing in the race for the pennant. The young collegian was pitted against the veteran Breitenstein and the former's work excelled the latter's more than the close score would indicate. He let the locals down with a couple of hits, which will go on record as safe smashes, but those in attendance thought that Henley was entitled to the credit of pitching a game free from hits, as Pabst and Krug had chances to handle the grounders which went safe.

In addition to performing in a wonderful manner from the slab, Henley made the first run for his side after driving a straight ball from Breitenstein's paw for three bases. He also fielded difficult bunts which were dumped at him by the Memphis batters. Six batters were thrown out in this manner at first by Henley when a miscue in several instances would have resulted in the locals adding the tieing run.

It was Henley day at the park. The tall lad spent last summer here pitching for the Chickasaws, the amateur team of collegians. His friends turned out en masse today and cheered him to the echo after each inning.

The Georgia boy's work in the first few innings bulged with bases on balls.

In the first inning he passed Gfroerer and Gilligan, but with nobody out Henley settled down and struck out Lauzon, while Stouch completed a great double play by touching Gilligan and throwing Swacina out at first. Again in the third inning Henley filled the bases, giving Accorsini, Gfroerer and Gilligan easy walks, but Henley rose supreme against Lauzon and struck him out.

Memphis' only run was caused by the costly pass to first. In the fourth Valdois walked; so did Williams. Lipe sacrificed both forward a base and Valdois scored when Accorsini crashed a hot one at Reitz, who managed to throw the batter out.

The Atlanta runs happened when Manager Peter was least expecting them. With two strikes on him, Henley hit far over Gilligan for three bases and scored on a wild pitch. Winters added the second run by walking to first, with singles by Krug and Pabst.

President Peter is pleased with the team's showing. Krug and the rest of the players have given him to understand that they will do their best to keep in condition. The lecture given them Monday has seemingly had the desired effect, for Leighton's excusable muff of Lipe's liner in the ninth inning was the only misplay charged today to them. The team will rest tomorrow for the series with Little Rock beginning Thursday. Score:

Fast Horses Change Owners.

W. D. Klausman, owner of Mamie R, one of the most promising green equines of the year, has made a trade with Oscar Ray, owner of Charley H, reputed to be the king of Atlanta roadsters. By the trade Mamie R becomes the property of Mr. Ray, while Charley H goes into Mr. Klausman's barn. The inside of the trade is known only to the gentlemen interested, as neither will tell how the horses were valued in the swap.

HARNESS RACES ARRANGED.

Atlanta and Macon Are To Have a Big Test in the Near Future.

Atlanta horses are to go against the best equines the lovers of the track in Macon can produce and the event promises to be one of the most interesting and attractive in the sporting calendar of the year.

The best horsemen of Atlanta are now dickering with men in the Central City for a meeting during the latter part of the present month or the early days of July. So far ten of the best harness horses in Atlanta, singles and teams, have been listed for the event, while in Macon a dozen of the best roadsters in that section of the state have been placed on the books. The meet will probably cover a period of three or four days and may result in a return meeting at a subsequent date on the Atlanta track.

A number of handsome purses are being arranged, while no small amount of money will be wagered on the side by the owners of the steppers. There will be a free-for-all trot, a free-for-all race and a big road race among the events.

ELECTS TEACHERS SATURDAY.

School Board Met Yesterday To Consider List of Instructors for Fall Term.

The board of education met yesterday afternoon, in committee of the whole, for the purpose of considering the list of teachers for the fall term. The meeting was executive. It is understood, however, that the board does not contemplate making any radical changes. The session was a lengthy one, lasting from about 3 o'clock until nearly 6.

Teachers for the new term will be elected at a meeting of the board to be held Saturday. The indications are that the board will be confronted with the same crowded conditions at the beginning of the fall term in September that have obtained for the past few years, and it is expected that arrangements will be made for four or five extra grades in those districts that will probably be most crowded. Teachers for these additional rooms will be elected at Saturday's meeting.

The grammar schools will all close Friday for the summer holidays, and in some of the schools the occasion will be observed with special exercises. In most of the schools, however, the usual daily work will engage the attention of the pupils up to the hour of dismissal for the vacation period. The schools will open again the second Monday in September. Previous to that date the teachers will be in attendance on the regular normal classes.

THE CASE OF A. S. DOCKERY, trustee, against the Beck & Gregg Hardware Company was opened before Judge Newman in the United States court yesterday morning, but was not finished when court adjourned. It will be resumed Thursday morning and its completion will be reached within an hour or two.

SHORT ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

SNEAK THIEVES ARE ENGAGED in stealing garden hose from front yards. Several cases of the kind have been reported to the police and citizens are warned against leaving their hose out during the night time.

TWENTY-SIX BOXES OF FINE cigars were found hidden in a wood yard at No. 520 Marietta street yesterday morning. The find has been reported to the police. The cigars are believed to have been stolen and hidden by the thief who was afraid to call for them afterwards.

THE BODY OF MRS. D. K. LOGAN was brought through Atlanta yesterday afternoon en route to Xenia, Ohio, for interment. Mrs. Logan died Sunday afternoon near Thomasville, Ga., after a lingering illness of months. Three weeks ago Mr. Logan and a daughter about grown accompanied the invalid to Thomasville in search of health. The change was not productive of good results and Mrs. Logan died Sunday afternoon.

A HORSE DRAWING A PARCEL DELIVERY wagon was frightened at a locomotive at the passenger station yesterday afternoon. In his mad dash the horse broke a shaft, the end of which penetrated his side behind the left shoulder, making an ugly wound, from which the blood gushed freely. Within a few minutes the horse was so weakened from the loss of blood that he could hardly stand. A veterinary surgeon stopped the flow sufficiently to lead the horse away and will in all probability save the animal's life.

YESTERDAY BEING THE BIRTHday of Jefferson Davis, Mayor Mims issued a proclamation during the morning declaring the day a half holiday and ordering all the city offices closed at 12 o'clock. The city employees took the afternoon off and there was no one about the city hall during the afternoon.

THE MATTER OF DIVIDING THE city into wards was discussed briefly at the meeting of the charter revision committee yesterday, but was not finally disposed of. It is understood that the subcommittee has its report about finished and that the city will be divided into either nine or ten wards. This report will probably be made at the next meeting of the committee. The matter of completing the work of the committee was discussed and it was decided that it would be necessary to have meetings oftener than once a week. A resolution was passed empowering the chairman to call the meetings as often as he thought necessary in order to have the new charter completed by the first day of July.

THE DIRECTORS OF THE ATLANTA chamber of commerce in session yesterday adopted a resolution authorizing the president of the chamber to appoint a committee to cooperate with the fair association and the city council in the matter of having President Roosevelt visit Atlanta this fall. A resolution was also passed indorsing the plan of Mr. R. T. Connally to have what is known as a "trade extension trip." This is a plan to have the heads of business firms in the city make an extended trip throughout the country contiguous to Atlanta in order that the country merchants may be met personally. This plan has been adopted by the cities of the north and has been highly successful. It is probable that the proposed trip for the Atlanta merchants will be arranged some time during the summer before the fall trade begins and those who were present yesterday are enthusiastic over the prospects.

AT A WELL ATTENDED MEETING held yesterday afternoon in the First Christian church the Harrison Mutual Burial Association elected Dr. J. W. Nelms to the presidency, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of E. J. Powell. Dr. Nelms was elected unanimously.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISsioners will meet this morning in regular monthly session. Clerk Henry M. Wood has little routine business on hand and it is expected that the session will be brief. It is not thought that any matters of special interest will be considered.

MRS. LYDIA SILLS, WIFE OF J. W. Sills, died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at her residence, 667 East Fair street. Her death was due to consumption, with which she had been ill several months. Funeral services will be conducted this morning at Wesley Chapel. The interment will be in the church burying ground. A special car will leave the residence at 9 o'clock.

TWENTY-HOUR TRAIN GOES ON

Time Between New York and Chicago To Be Greatly Reduced.

DAY WILL BE SAVED BY REDUCTION IN TIME

New York Central and Lake Shore Will Put on New Train To Be Known as the "Twentieth Century Limited"—Other Railway News.

New York, June 3.—(Special.)—From New York to Chicago in twenty hours. That is the record-breaking time that will be made when the new "Twentieth Century Limited" is put into service by the New York Central and the Lake Shore on June 15.

The "Twentieth Century Limited" will run between New York and Chicago every day in the year. It will be without question the fastest long distance train in the world. The 980 miles between New York and Chicago will be made in exactly twenty hours, including all stops.

Westbound the train will leave the Grand Central station in New York at 2:45 p. m. arriving at the Grand Central station in Chicago at 9:45 o'clock the next morning. Eastbound trains will leave Chicago at 12:30 p. m., arriving in New York at 9:30 o'clock the next morning.

In speaking of the advantages of the new service today General Passenger Agent George H. Daniels, of the New York Central, said:

"The new twenty-hour schedule which we will inaugurate on the 'Twentieth Century Limited' means practically the saving of a day between New York and Chicago.

"I consider the name given the new train very apt, as the reduction in time is an achievement fully in keeping with the spirit of the times. It is a real twentieth century movement and entirely in line with the genius of American institutions."

Baker Is Superintendent.

Washington, June 3.—It is announced that H. H. Baker has been appointed superintendent of the Charlotte division of the Southern railway offices at Charlotte, N. C., vice C. S. McManus, appointed assistant to the general manager at Washington.

Extension Is Assured.

Valdosta, Ga., June 3.—(Special.)—An important railroad meeting was held here this morning at which the Valdosta board of trade met the builders of the Wadley and Mount Vernon railroad and discussed the plans for extending the road from Augusta to Deadman's Bay, Fla., via Wadley, Douglas, Milltown and Valdosta.

Captain T. J. James, president of the road; P. B. Lawrence, engineer, and J. W. Miller, general freight and passenger agent, were present at the meeting. The line is already graded to Douglas and the rails will be down within sixty days.

Citizens of Milltown have subscribed $40,000 and the people of Valdosta have been asked for a subscription which they will raise without any trouble. This line will mean much for this city and section. It has been projected for several years and the meeting today insures its building.

Spikes and Cinders.

The Southern will put its Asheville sleeping car line into service for the summer season, beginning Saturday. This season the Asheville sleeper will run from Macon instead of Montgomery, as in former years.

The sleeper will be open for Atlanta passengers at 10:30 p. m., although the train does not leave for the east until midnight. In the past people wishing to board this sleeper at Atlanta have had to wait until the arrival of the West Point Route's No. 36 at 11:40 o'clock.

The Western and Atlantic brought in an excursion yesterday from Rome bearing 750 officers and children of the Sunday school of the Second Baptist church of that city. Don't Accept Counterfeits.

For piles, skin diseases, sores, cuts, bruises, burns and other wounds nothing equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Don't accept counterfeits. None genuine except DeWitt's. "I have suffered since 1865 with protruding, bleeding piles and until recently could find no permanent relief," says J. F. Gerall, of St. Paul, Ark. "Finally I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which soon completely cured me."

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Notable Opinions Handed Down Yesterday Morning.

LOCAL CASES ARE DECIDED.

Court of Last Resort Brings to a Close a Number of Issues Long Pending.

Justice Lewis was prevented by sickness from participating in the adjudication of these cases. Each judgment, where not otherwise stated, is concurred in by all the five justices present.

558. Welborne v. Donaldson, superintendent. Habeas corpus. Before Judge Lumpkin. Fulton superior court.

Lumpkin, P. J.—The act of September 8, 1891, establishing the criminal court of Atlanta, is not unconstitutional because of the section therein whereby jurisdiction over misdemeanors is withdrawn from the city court of Atlanta and conferred upon the criminal court; nor is that act unconstitutional because the court thereby established is not, in its jurisdiction, powers, proceedings, and practice, uniform with the superior or other courts of this state, not city courts, which have jurisdiction of misdemeanors; nor is that act unconstitutional because it fails to provide that one accused of a penal offense shall have the right to demand an indictment; nor is the provision in the act for trials by juries of only five contrary either to the paragraph of the constitution of this state which declares that "no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law," or to the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, or to the paragraph of the constitution of Georgia which forbids the enactment of special legislation in any case provided for by an existing general law.

Judgment affirmed.

Alexander W. Stephens, for plaintiff in error. Eugene R. Black, solicitor, contra.

559. Simmons v. State. Before Judge Henry. Floyd superior court.

Simmons, C. J.—In the trial of a criminal case it is error to admit evidence offered to show acquiescence of the accused by silence in statements made by the officer who arrested him to another officer, as to the sayings and conduct of the accused when arrested, when it is not affirmatively shown that the accused was present when the conversation occurred, or that he heard the same, or that he failed to deny the truth of the statements when they were made.

Judgment reversed.

M. B. Eubanks and C. E. Carpenter, for plaintiff in error.

Boykin Wright, attorney general, and Moses Wright, solicitor general, contra.

560. Stripland v. State. Petition for discharge. Before Judge Estes. Hall superior court.

Little, J.—The provision of the penal code (section 958) which declares that a person against whom a bill of indictment is returned for an offense not affecting his life may demand a trial at the term at which the indictment was found, or at the next succeeding term thereafter; and if he shall not be tried at the term when the demand is made, or at the next succeeding term thereafter, and at both terms there were juries impaneled and qualified to try him, he shall be discharged and acquitted of the offense charged against him, refers to regular terms of the court; and although a person so charged has made a demand for trial, in compliance with the terms of the statute, at a regular term, he is not entitled to be discharged and acquitted of such offense because the state failed or refused to try him at a special term held after the demand was made.

Judgment affirmed.

H. H. Dean, for plaintiff in error.
W. A. Charters, solicitor general, contra.

561. Moore v. State. Before Judge Evans. Washington superior court.

Fish, J.—There being no complaint that the court erred in any ruling made during the progress of the trial, or in charging the jury, and the evidence, though circumstantial, being amply sufficient to support the verdict, there was no error in overruling the motion for a new trial.

Judgment affirmed. (No further opinion.)

J. A. Robson, for plaintiff in error.
B. T. Rawlings, solicitor general, contra.

562. Lawson v. State. Wife-beating. Before Judge Robinson. City court of Wrightsville.

Cobb, J.—1. While a husband is authorized, under the law of this state, to use such force as may be necessary to repel a felonious assault by his wife upon him or his property, he is not justified under any circumstances in striking his wife either by way of chastisement or in resentment of a past injury consisting of an assault upon him or his property; and this is true although the assault may have been in the immediate past.

2. Applying the foregoing principle to the present case, there was no error in the charges complained of; and the evidence authorized the verdict.

Judgment affirmed. (No further opinion.)

J. L. Kent, for plaintiff in error.
B. B. Blount, solicitor, contra.

563. Griffin v. State. Before Judge Reagan. Pike superior court.

Simmons, C. J.—1. An indictment for selling spirituous liquors without a licenst "from the authorities authorized by law to grant license for the sale of such liquors by retail" is, under a local law, authorizing the grant of a license to sell such liquors under certain conditions, sufficient though the indictment does not on its face expressly show that it is based on that law.

2. Even if the local law of Pike county regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors be unconstitutional, such an indictment is, as against a motion in arrest of judgment, sufficient, under the general law, to support a conviction of selling such liquors without a license. (Tinsley v. State, 109 Ga. 822.)

3. A conviction upon such an indictment will not be arrested because the indictment did not allege that the liquors were not sold in a certain incorporated town in said county wherein the sale is altogether prohibited except in a dispensary.

4. The payment of a certain number of gallons of whisky per month as rent of a distillery constitutes a sale under the law regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors without license.

5. The evidence was sufficient to warrant the verdict.

Judgment affirmed. (No further opinion.)

T. E. Patterson, for plaintiff in error.
O. H. B. Bloodworth, solicitor general, contra.

564. White v. State. Keeping gaming house. Before Judge Roberts. Irwin superior court.

Lumpkin, P. J.—The evidence was not sufficient to warrant a conviction, and therefore the court erred in overruling the petition for certiorari.

Judgment reversed.

Quincey & McDonald and McDonald & Quincey, for plaintiff in error.

565. Arnheiter v. State. Violating Sabbath. Before Judge Sparks. City court of Brunswick.

Lumpkin, P. J.—1. It is not, within the meaning of the penal code, section 422, a work of "necessity or charity" for a butcher to sell meats to his customers on the Lord's day merely because they choose, as matter of convenience or preference, not to make their purchases on the previous day.

2. The giving of erroneous or inappropriate instructions in the trial of a criminal case affords the accused no just cause of complaint, when so doing could not in any manner have operated to his injury.

Judgment affirmed.

Ernest Dart and Crovatt & Whitfield, for plaintiff in error.
J. T. Colson, solicitor, contra.

566. McFarland v. Donaldson, supt. Habeas corpus. Before Judge Lumpkin. Fulton superior court.

Fish, J.—1. It is too late, after trial and conviction upon an accusation in a criminal court having jurisdiction of the offense, to raise, by an application for habeas corpus, questions of procedure or practice, which should have been made before or during the trial, and the rulings on which are properly reviewable by certiorari only.

2. Even if the act of November 27, 1895 (Acts, 1895, p. 68), in part codified in the penal code, section 1039, was unconstitutional at the time of its enactment, because violative of the provisions of the constitution as set forth in the civil code, sections 5771, 5779, if otherwise constitutional, the fact of its codification and the adoption of the code by the act of December 16, 1895 (Acts, 1895, p. 89), had the effect of making that section valid and constitutional law.

3. The criminal court of Atlanta has no power to grant a new trial, and a motion therein made for a new trial is a mere nullity.

4. All questions presented by the bill of exceptions, which are not covered by what is ruled above, are fully disposed of in the decision and opinion of this court in Welborne v. Donaldson, decided today (558).

Judgment affirmed.

Robert L. Rodgers, for plaintiff in error.
Eugene R. Black, solicitor, contra.

567. Harris v. State. Assault and battery. Before Judge Robinson. City court of Wrightsville.

Simmons, C. J.—A mother who has the right to control and correct her child may authorize another, in her presence, to chastise the child for disobedience; and if he do so in a proper manner, he is not guilty of an assault and battery upon the child.

Judgment reversed. (No further opinion.)

J. L. Kent, for plaintiff in error.
B. B. Blount, solicitor, contra.

568. Adkins v. State. Before Judge Evans. Washington superior court.

Little, J.—1. On the trial of a person charged with breaking and entering a railroad car and stealing therefrom, which car, it is alleged in the bill of indictment, was owned by the convict of Georgia Railway Company, an instruction to the jury that if the car which was [illegible] and from which the goods were stolen [illegible] the possession of the Central of Georgia Railway Company and shown to have been on its track at the time of the alleged larceny, this was sufficient proof of ownership to support the allegation of ownership in the indictment; was not error.

2. The evidence warranted the verdict, and the court did not err in overruling the motion for a new trial.

Judgment affirmed. (No further opinion.)

J. A. Robson, for plaintiff in error.
B. T. Rawlings, solicitor general, contra.

569. Wells v. State. Murder. Before Judge Candler. Fulton superior court.

Cobb, J.—1. In the trial of a murder case, when the only question to be determined is whether the accused is guilty of murder or voluntary manslaughter, evidence that the deceased was "a small, delicate man" is not irrelevant. Such evidence would elucidate the question as to whether the killing was done with malice.

2. There was ample evidence to support the verdict finding the accused guilty of murder, and the court did not err in refusing to grant a new trial.

Judgment affirmed. (No further opinion.)

W. W. Haden and R. O. Lovett, for plaintiff in error.
Boykin Wright, attorney general, and C. D. Hill, solicitor general, contra.

PASSING THRONG.

"Have you noticed the remarkable increase in sickness and death in Atlanta during the past six weeks?" asked the observing man of a group in the Kimball house lobby yesterday afternoon. "No? Well, then perhaps you do not happen to employ an office boy or a half dozen young clerks. If you did you would immediately see the force of my statement.

"Time was when I thought that the baseball ague and the bleacher bacillus were things of the distant past in Atlanta, and that such a thing as a rampant baseball enthusiast could not be found within the confines of Fulton county. For a long time it seemed that the baseball microbe had died a natural death and I had no fear that he would ever be brought to life. I did not figure on the fact that death is impossible to the baseball bacillus. Once implanted in a man's breast he lives forever. Through stress of circumstances he may, at times, lie dormant, but never dies.

"During the several years when Atlanta had no baseball team you would have to take a search warrant to find a man, woman or child who took the remotest interest in baseball. It was a day's job to find any one who could tell you the batting average of Burkett and few knew how the teams of the National League stood.

"That was simply because Atlanta had no team. Atlanta, by the way, is a most peculiar town. Anything she is not directly interested in is not worth the while. But, bless your soul, the latent interest and enthusiasm was here. All that was needed to fan the flame into fury was nine men in knickerbockers! With that the disease became prevalent. Baseball today is the one absorbing topic of conversation. You can hear it on all sides. Everybody is posted. Everyone is interested. All are jubilant when Atlanta wins and the entire town puts on crepe when the home team loses. The chronic kicker, who can never be downed, is abroad in the land and his loud lament can be heard from every street corner.

"But, getting back to the original proposition—the great increase in the Atlanta death rate.

"I know you will think I am joking, for the funny papers have worked the thing to death; but my experience has been that every well-worn joke is founded on a solid sub-stratum of fact. In six weeks my office boy has had more sickness in his family than at any period of his entire life. One or two members of the family have died, but I always notice that when Atlanta wins the poor little fellow seems to get over his grief in a hurry. Strange enough, the death always takes place when the Atlanta team is in town. The clerks and other employees in my office never have any actual deaths, but toothache and malarial fever and sick headache have grown so frequent that I am seriously thinking of employing a staff physician, a trained nurse and endowing a 'diamond cot' in some charity hospital to send them to."

"One of the best men to interview that I know of," said the reformed newspaper man, "is Dr. Wallace Buttrick, of New York, the secretary of the general educational board. I have met him on a number of occasions and I always found him to be the soul of affability and good nature. He first finds out what you want, and in nine cases in ten he will tell you all you are looking for and a good deal more besides. He is as free and frank as an open book, and makes no effort to conceal anything. Before talking to you, however, he gives you to understand that he wants to go over the interview with you and tell you just exactly what he wants printed and what he wants left out. After he gets through talking he edits your story, so to speak, by explaining what he has said. In this way you get a logical, well-rounded interview and do not have to jump at any conclusions.

"In a recent interview, Dr. Buttrick said to me: 'I always make it a rule to tell a newspaper man all I know, and then to ask him as a personal favor not to use certain parts of what I have said. I find this to be the most satisfactory plan, and I believe that if every man employed the same rule we would not have all these complaints about the alleged inaccuracy of newspaper reporters. I have been dealing with newspaper reporters for many years, and I never knew one of them to betray a confidence entrusted to him.'"

Dr. Frank K. Boland, a member of the house staff of St. Joseph hospital in Baltimore, is in the city on a short vacation visiting his parents. FOR SALE

WEDNESDAY, June 11, at 12 o'clock, on the premises,

No. 107 Marietta St.

Splendid Central Property.

This is a 2-story brick house on a lot 50 by 120 feet or more, 50 feet east of Spring street. It is right in the center of active business and should be converted into either store houses or some manufacturing interest. This is all heart without one iota of sap; every inch of this is valuable property; is available for a constant income; few such desirable localities are ever offered at public outcry. A $25,000 residence is now being removed in front of this lot to make way for business. Marietta street has big possibilities. The government will soon spend several hundred thousand dollars on the new postoffice and grounds just east of this block, enhancing all surrounding property. Terms, $10,000 cash, balance on time, 7 per cent. Immediately after this sale I will offer a 13-room house at No. 145 Walton street, on a lot 56 by 143 feet. Here we have a monthly income sufficient to pay all taxes and interest and more, too, but the lot should be improved in a manner proper to meet the demands of the locality and double the income. There are few places in Atlanta that take in more cash every week than the junction of Walton and Marietta. Apartment and first-class boarding houses are in great demand right now. Call for plat and examine the property for yourself before the sale. Terms, $2,000 in 2 years at 6 per cent, balance cash.
